Cardboard Box Fortune Found In Illinois Probe

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — "Dear Mr. Powell," the scrawled letter began. "I sent my $10 and I've been waiting to you for weeks but so far I still don't have my license plates."

Like many others, the letter was folded inside a registration form. Pinned to it was a personal check for $10.

Since Monday, thousands of uncashed checks and money orders for vehicle licenses and auto sales taxes have been discovered crammed into 16 dog-eared cardboard boxes belonging to an aide to the late Secretary of State Paul Powell.

Four of the boxes were found in and near the aide's apartment, 12 in a nearby garage. Powell, at the time of his death in October, was the big-daddy-style kingpin of Southern Illinois Democrats.

Two months after he died, it was disclosed that Powell kept $850,000 in cash stuffed in shoeboxes, trunks and valises, much of it reportedly in a closet of his suite in the St. Nicholas Hotel in Springfield.

Discovery of the hoard touched off a series of state and federal investigations. In the early morning hours Monday, more discoveries popped up.

Acting on a telephone tip, state investigators dug into the basement laundry room of a Springfield apartment house. From a storage bin they pulled cashed checks, money orders, three boxes stuffed with uncashed checks, money orders, letters and state forms.

That afternoon, they went through the upstairs apartment of William Glenn, 53, a former supervisor in Powell's Motor Vehicle Division who was fired April 2 during a large-scale patronage turnover. Found was another box of checks, money orders and letters.

A special assistant attorney general announced late Tuesday that 12 more boxes, similarly stuffed with checks, money orders and documents were found by employees of the Illinois National Bank in the garage of an apartment building once occupied by Glenn. The bank took over the property when it went into receivership.

"It's like London after the blitz," a state house observer said. "They kept finding those unexploded bombs. They'll be finding Paul Powell stuff for years."

Officials did not have an immediate estimate of the face value of the checks and money orders, but newsmen who thumbed through some of the checks said the total face value could top $100,000. Many of them were dated from 1966 and 1967.

Some of the letters and newspapers were addressed to Glenn. The largest check found so far was one for $1,160 from a trucking company for registration plates.

Utility Rate Boosts Are All Postponed
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Increases in all gas, electric, telephone and water rates have been postponed until the federal wage-price freeze ends, the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio announced Tuesday.

Chairman Henry Eckhart said the commission still will accept applications for rate increases and will continue to process them.

Students at Atwater Elementary numbered 643, followed by Mount Street, 409; South Court 399, Nicholas Drive 227, High Street 194 and Corwin 118. Enrollment at the high school was 748 and in the junior high 845.

Ohio Tax Program Still Stalled

Gilligan's 'Austerity' Plan Starts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More than 2,800 state employees have their walking papers today as Gov. John Gilligan's austerity program goes into effect.

The figure includes seasonal or temporary employees, retirements and unfilled vacancies so the actual number of full-time employees being laid off is estimated at less than half that number.

Gilligan announced the cutbacks Aug. 19, saying the state would have to save money on operating expenses until the Legislature comes up with a permanent state budget.

In the meantime, a ten-day interim budget went into effect today to keep government moving while work on a budget continues in the General Assembly. State officials are pessimistic about chances for getting a budget by then.

The lion's share of the cutbacks announced by the governor are in the Department of Natural Resources, which is laying off 1,200 workers in its division of parks and recreation.

Of that number, however, only 450 are full-timers. The rest are temporary summer helpers who would have been leaving anyway. The department says the cuts will save nearly one-half million dollars in September if there is no budget by the end of the month.

Those cutbacks don't go into effect until Sept. 7, when the department closes all state park except the 11 which have lodges or other revenue-producing facilities.

Henderson Trial Enters New Phase

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — The government has moved into a new phase in the court-martial of Col. Oran K. Henderson, from bringing out what happened at My Lai to how much headquarters knew at the time.

It is the beginning of the prosecution attempt to prove that Henderson, commanding the 11th Brigade, should have known on that March morning in 1968 that American soldiers were killing not the enemy but unarmed and unresisting civilians.

It is also the start of the first public look, in open court, at what a congressional subcommittee called a concerted plan "to keep the My Lai matter bottled up within the American Division."

No word reached the Pentagon of what happened in My Lai until a year later when a former soldier wrote an anguished letter to Congress.

The resulting investigation saw charges of dereliction of duty placed against 13 officers, of whom only Henderson was forced to stand trial.

The colonel is charged with failing to conduct a thorough investigation into reports of a massacre at My Lai, failing to report the My Lai affair to higher command and lying to Army investigators.

The early witnesses in the trial went over the familiar story of Task Force Barker's March 16, 1968, search-and-destroy mission—the troops' entry into the South China Sea village, the piles of bodies, and the burning of hooches.

Michael J. Bakalis, state superintendent of public instruction in Illinois.

A spokesman for Vermont Gov. Deane C. Davis said the decision "opens a Pandora's box." If the ruling is upheld in the federal courts "it could revolutionize education in this country," he said.

M. Carl Holman, president of the National Urban Coalition, predicted the ruling would "ultimately... be as momentous" as the 1954 U.S. Supreme Court school desegregation decision.

Lawsuits Challenge Wage Freeze

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two labor groups and Boston policemen have filed lawsuits challenging the constitutionality of President Nixon's wage-price freeze, especially as it applies to deferred pay raises and government employees.

The Justice Department, replying Tuesday to a similar suit brought last week by four Catholic University professors in Washington, said an injunction against the 90-day freeze would result "in the irreparable dislocation of the President's program to stem inflation, reduce unemployment and reduce our trade deficit."

Although the professors contend the Economic Stabilization Act under which Nixon acted is unconstitutional because Congress gave its legislative powers to the executive branch, the administration replied the law meets constitutional standards.

The new challenges were filed Tuesday in Washington by postal unions representing 650,000 workers; in Kansas City by Local 124, AFL-CIO International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers with about 2,000 members, and in Boston by the Boston Police Patrolmen's Association.

The postal unions seek a court order to thaw a $250 pay raise due Oct. 21 plus automatic in-grade raises. They assert the law creating the new U.S. Postal Service exempts contracts with its employees from any other congressional act.

Electricians in the Kansas City area construction industry seek a court order forcing contractors to honor a pact negotiated a year ago, calling for an 85-cent hourly pay boost plus 15 cents an hour more in fringe benefits, effective today.

Boston policemen, in their suit, claim the law authorizing a freeze is not applicable to government employees and exceeds Congress' power to regulate interstate commerce.

Meanwhile, the administration continued to define terms of the freeze and Congress gathered more information on what might be done after the freeze expires Nov. 13.

Gardner Ackley, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers under President Lyndon B. Johnson, agreed with labor's complaint that the freeze unfairly benefits big business more than consumers.

Elsewhere on Capitol Hill, Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., called on Nixon to launch anti-trust suits against what he called "the major concentrated industries in our economy."

And House Democratic Leader Hale Boggs of Louisiana listed new trade legislation as a priority item for Congress to take up when it reconvenes Sept. 8.

President Bars Fulbright Bid For Military Aid Paper

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, claiming executive privilege for the second time since taking office, has denied the Senate Foreign Relations Committee data on military aid plans.

The action brought to a head an already bitter battle over secrecy with committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., who sought a document he said detailed a five-year plan of military assistance.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said such a document never existed, but U.S. Comptroller General Elmer B. Staats looked into the dispute and ruled on Aug. 17 the Pentagon has such a plan.

Fulbright had threatened to withhold pending funds for direct grants for military training and equipment unless the plan was sent to the committee, or the President claimed executive privilege.

"I am concerned," Nixon responded Tuesday, "as have been my predecessors, that unless privacy of preliminary exchange of views between personnel of the executive branch can be maintained, the full, frank and healthy expression of opinion 'which is essential for the successful administration of government would be muted.'"

Nixon's statement was in a memo to Laird, marking the first time since June 1970 the President claimed the need for executive privacy. At that time, the White House said, Nixon invoked the privilege to guard certain FBI records.

Fulbright said he found the President's decision hard to understand, "especially since the information was requested on a confidential basis and in the light of earlier statements about the desire of this administration to be open and forth-

'Dream Car' A Nightmare, Officers Told

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Eddie Campos said he saved for five years for the "dream car."

He bought one new last year for $6,500. But, he said, it turned out to be a "lemon."

"It has been towed in for repairs 10,000 times," he explained to sheriff's officers. He said he could never get the car running properly.

On Tuesday he drove the auto onto the front lawn of the maker's company plant in suburban Pico Rivera, doused the car's interior and set it afire. The car was destroyed.

The sheriff's office said it was mulling whether to seek a criminal complaint against Campos. He said he would continue to make payments on the car.

nia's. Over the last three years, similar suits and legislation in at least eight states had failed to eliminate public school dependence on local property taxes.

"The decision is the precursor to future court decisions and increased equal educational opportunity to poor school children throughout the country," said NIC President Holman.

"We anticipate, then, that the coming in its relations with the American people and the Congress.

"The refusal of the executive branch to provide this material for the use of the Senate," Fulbright said, "makes it most difficult to legislate in the area of foreign military assistance."

The entire $3.4-billion foreign assistance authorization bill, which includes funds for military aid, is pending before Fulbright's committee.

Busing Controversy Brings Administration Statements

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — The school desegregation busing controversy, sometimes described as a political liability for President Nixon, has prompted a new round of White House-authorized comment.

After Elliot Richardson, secretary of health, education and welfare, met for more than an hour with Nixon Tuesday, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler produced the HEW chief for newsmen in what clearly was an effort to establish a united administration front on the busing question.

Richardson, speaking as the chief executive flew by helicopter to Los Angeles for lunch and a round of golf, insisted that he and Nixon never had disagreed on the busing issue.

The President, he said, "believes that from an educational point of view, busing should not be used except to the minimum necessary extent. He believes that it is a good thing in principle for children to be able to attend a school in their own neighborhood."

On Aug. 3, as Richardson left Washington for a vacation, Nixon issued a statement directing the Justice Department to disavow an HEW school desegregation plan for Austin, Tex., that involved extensive busing.

Following issuance of the Nixon statement, there were published reports Richardson might resign from his Cabinet post.

"I did not consider resignation," Richardson said Tuesday. He said he supported Nixon's position on busing "before Aug. 3, and I support it now."

He said HEW had advanced its Austin plan only at the direction of a federal court in Texas "as a matter of technical assistance" to the school district and the court.

Richardson said Nixon's statement was prompted by a desire to point up the "inadequacy" of an Austin school board desegregation plan, suggesting the chief executive had no overriding quarrel with his department's plan.

"The above 'source' could only be slanderous, insolent and attempting to damage the prestige of those who do not wish to be servants of foreign powers," Minh continued. "If that source is indeed the United States ambassador, that would be a cause of sadness for the American people."

Bunker told 19 American British and French correspondents at a background briefing Sunday that Minh, in return for his guarantee to run for the presidency, "practically wanted us to run the election. He wanted more than it was possible or desirable to give."

Bunker held the briefing only on the condition that he not be identified by name. But as usual with such ground rules, his identity was generally known today.

Senate Shows Few Signs Of Movement

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio General Assembly today entered its 170th day of consideration of tax and budget legislation for the 1971-73 biennium.

Without a permanent budget, the state has been paying its bills on a monthly basis, with spending levels frozen at rates set during the last biennium.

The latest interim appropriation bill for $57.7 million, cleared the Legislature Tuesday.

Coverage of the stopgap funding extends only through the first ten days of September. By then, legislators hope, final action will have been taken on the critical tax and budget legislation.

Little movement in that direction was visible Tuesday as special interest groups and both political parties continued to assail senators with the merit of one position or another on the question of a graduated personal income tax.

Both sides were claiming converts. It will take 17 votes for any tax measure to pass the Senate. Republicans hold a 20-13 voting edge.

An income tax plan has already passed the House.

The Senate Ways and Means Committee is considering an income tax on individuals of from one to three per cent, and an alternate sales tax increase from four to five and one-half cents on the dollar. Both plans call for a three or six per cent tax on corporation earnings. The selection of one of the two tax options will determine future state spending levels.

The committee meets again today. A recommendation is expected.

Despite legislative infighting, the Senate did manage to pass during its afternoon session Tuesday legislation to increase weekly workmen's compensation benefits by as much as 30 per cent. The vote was an unanimous 29-0.

Air Fare Plan Nixed By Lufthansa

MONTREAL (AP) — The International Air Transport Association says the West German airline Lufthansa has until midnight today to withdraw its rejection of a new North Atlantic air fares package.

An association spokesman said it had received a proposal to extend the deadline until Oct. 15 but he denied reports that the extension had been granted.

Indications are that Lufthansa will stand firm. It is already planning its own reduced rate schedule extending the $210 New York-Frankfurt round trip youth rate to all ages. Lufthansa said the proposed IATA schedule is too complicated and too expensive to administer.

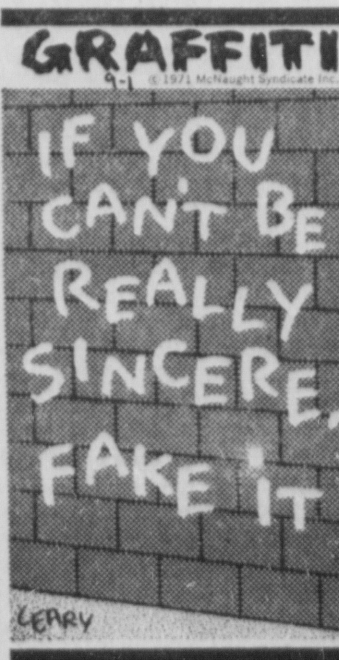

Lufthansa vetoed on Aug. 11 a fares package worked out at a seven-week conference in Montreal. Today's deadline was extended in hopes of avoiding an open price war among the world's leading airlines.

Lufthansa was able to veto the air fares package because unanimous agreement is required for a change in the rate structure. It was the only airline to vote against the package.

Unless the veto is withdrawn, an "open rate" situations will come into effect on Feb. 1, allowing the lines to set their own fares without losing membership in the association.

Districts Note Increase In Enrollment

Enrollment is higher in both city and county school districts this year according to preliminary reports issued by Superintendents Edward Martin, county, and Fritz Jacobs, city.

All youngsters in the entire county attended classes today with the exception of seventh and eighth graders in the Logan Elm District. Their first day of class has been postponed until Friday since all the classroom furniture failed to arrive at the New George McDowell Exchange School.

The figure reported for the three county districts by Martin is estimated from initial school enrollment. His office noted today that about 200 more students would be attending classes or some 6,000 youngsters.

Martin commented that the problem at Logan Elm and the new arrangement of classes for junior high students in Teays Valley District prevented the county from having accurate figures at noon today. Since seventh and eighth graders begin the second study phase at the high school building at 11:30 until 5 p.m., no homeroom counts would be received until later this afternoon.

SCHOOL in the eight city buildings went off smoothly yesterday, according to Superintendent Jacobs. The city youngsters began classes a day earlier than those in the county under the calendars adopted by the different districts.

Enrollment is also up in the city for the 1971-72 term, although the figure given likely is not the final figure for starting enrollment here. A total enrollment of 3,580 was given for all schools in the district, including enrollment of morning kindergarten classes.

Students at Atwater Elementary numbered 649, followed by Mound Street, 400; South Court 399, Nicholas Drive 227, High Street 194 and Corwin 118. Enrollment at the high school was 748 and in the junior high 845.

School Tax Ruling Could Sweep Country

By BOB MONROE
Associated Press Writer

Government and school officials across the nation say a precedent-shattering California Supreme Court school finance ruling could lead to similar suits in other states and ultimately revolutionize American public school education.

"The California decision could be as precedent-setting as the one-man, one-vote ruling of the U.S. Supreme Court," said

Michael J. Bakalis, state superintendent of public instruction in Illinois.

A spokesman for Vermont Gov. Deane C. Davis said the decision "opens a Pandora's box." If the ruling is upheld in the federal courts "it could revolutionize education in this country," he said.

M. Carl Holman, president of the National Urban Coalition, predicted the ruling would "ultimately... be as momentous" as the 1954 U.S. Supreme Court school desegregation decision.

The California court ruled Monday that the local property tax form of public school financing is unconstitutional on the ground that it discriminates against the poor. It did not spell out what would be an equitable tax structure.

With the exception of Hawaii and to some extent Utah, every state in the union uses a school finance system like California's.

Over the last three years, similar suits and legislation in at least eight states had failed to eliminate public school dependence on local property taxes.

"The decision is the precursor to future court decisions and increased equal educational opportunity to poor school children throughout the country," said NIC President Holman.

"We anticipate, then, that the experimentation will flow from the California decision with a variety of remedies rather than the immediate selection of a single formula to replace the present state funding systems in education," Holman said.

Not everyone agreed the ruling was good. Mayor A. Federico Leopold of Beverly Hills, Calif., assailed the decision, declaring, "The way to improve the Phil R. E. Hartsook, who is investigating the accident for the Highway Patrol, reported that the Chillicothe woman pulled from the driveway at the RCA plant onto the northbound lanes of Route 23 and directly in the path of the other two autos.

Her car was struck in the door on the left by Halley and forced off the east side of the roadway. The impact of the collision threw Halley's vehicle left of center into Dayton's auto. The Halley sedan went out of control across the crossover and the southbound highway lanes, coming to rest in a ditch along a cornfield. The third vehicle was tossed into the medial strip.

All three cars received heavy damage. Citations have not been issued pending completion of the investigation.

Power Line Dangers Under Study

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. William Brown has launched an investigation into the potential environmental side effects of extra high voltage transmission lines.

He said he would ask the courts to declare the lines a "public nuisance" if his study indicates they threaten to further pollute the air.

Of primary concern is the "corona discharge" associated with the extra high voltage lines, which carry 765 kilovolts (kv).

Brown's office said the corona discharge is created when a critical voltage is exceeded in the line. The discharge causes the air around the line to break down as an insulator, causing ionization of the surrounding air and release of toxic gases.

The Ohio Power Co. is proposing to have the parent firm the American Electric Power Co. of New York, build an extra voltage line from Gen. James M. Gavin power plant on the Ohio River near Athens to Marysville.

One 765 kv line already has been built between Marysville and Kammer and "is expected to be energized any day," according to Brown's office.

Another already is in operation between Louisville, Ky., and the Piketon atomic energy plant.

GOP Group Makes Grass Cutting Offer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A group of House Republicans who oppose the income tax bill today made a tongue in cheek offer to help Gov. John J. Gilligan with his austerity program.

The Republicans, in a letter to Gilligan, said they would mow the statehouse lawn themselves if Gilligan would supply the equipment.

The letter was signed by Reps. Robert E. Netzel, R-7 Laura, Donald R. Fraser, R-7 Toledo and Richard G. Reichel, R-92 Massillon. They are members of what is commonly called the "1219 Caucus."

The name stems from supporters of last year's House Bill 1219 which set up curbs on campus disruptions.

The Republicans also said Gilligan can save $100 million during the current two year biennium by requiring that welfare checks be picked up personally by able-bodied recipients.

"Since you are insistent upon making austerity the issue, I would like to volunteer the 1219 group to care for the statehouse lawn without charge for the balance of the summer," the letter stated.

More Judges Said Not Needed

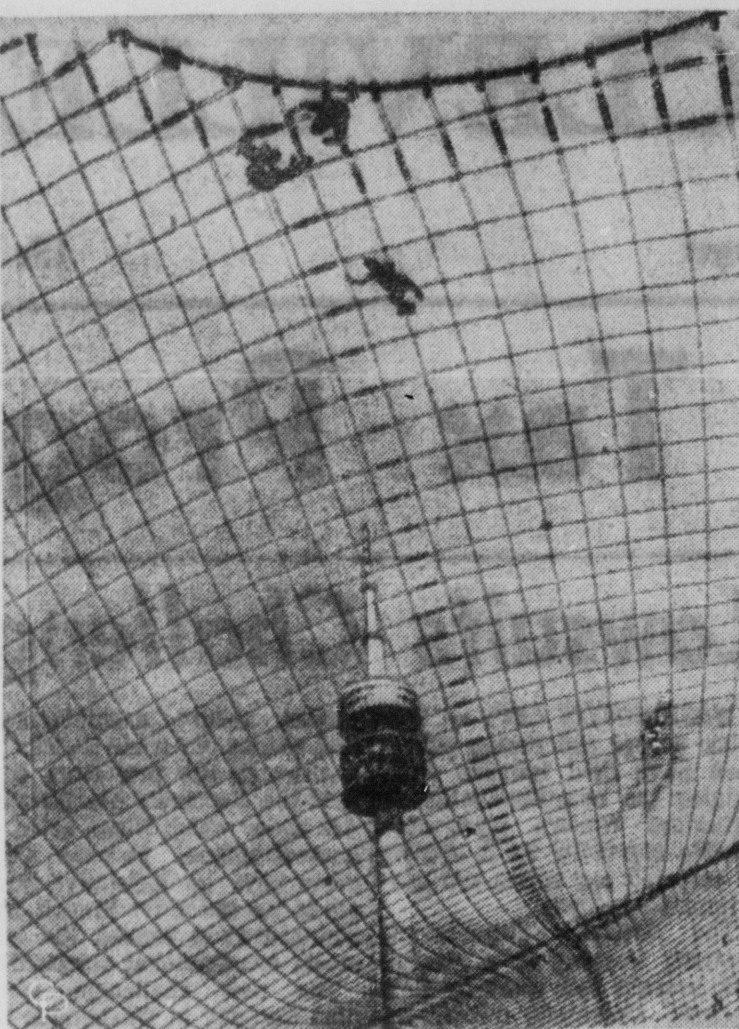

CINCINNATI (AP) — Simon Leis Jr., Hamilton County Prosecutor, said today he will take court action next week to block the election of four additional judges to the Hamilton County Municipal Court.

Leis said he would act on the request of attorney James Rimideo who called Tuesday for a taxpayers suit to block the expansion of the court from nine to 13 jurists.

Leis, in a statement, said the Hamilton County Common Pleas Court will be asked to resolve the question. Leis said it was his opinion that the extra judges were not needed.

Then the situation developed to this.

U.S. Pornography Explicit, More Open, Panelist Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Openly sold and shown American pornography has become as explicit as anything in Denmark, says a presidential pornography commission researcher, and is probably about a $200 million-a-year industry. John S. Sampson, who was a commission staff member, said a reasonable estimate for U.S. hardcore pornography—stag films and other erotica sold under the counter—is $5 million to $10 million a year although reliable figures don't exist.

Sampson's 200-page report on American pornography traffic and distribution as of August 1970, made for the Commission on Obscenity and Pornography that dissolved last year, was published this week.

Explicit 16-millimeter pornographic films shown in public theaters in many large U.S. cities "do not differ one iota" from those in Denmark, Sampson said. He said American "adults only" paperbacks and magazines differ only in that they have more text along with the erotic photographs.

Calling previous unofficial estimates of a $2.5-billion-a-year U.S. pornography industry "gross exaggerations," Sampson said the commission staff's 15-month study indicated annual sales as of last summer were about $200 million.

The commission survey found annual U.S. pornography receipts of:

—$60 million to $70 million for exploitation films such as "The Notorious Daughter of Fanny Hill" regularly shown in about 600 of the nation's 13,700 theaters.

—$70 million to $90 million for sales of 8 to 12 million sexually oriented magazines and 25 to 30 million pornographic paperback books sold in 850 "adults only" bookstores and 1,425 restricted sections of magazine and newspaper shops.

—$13 million in mail-order pornography and sexual devices which Sampson said in some cases turned out to be far tamer than what the customer had been led to expect by advertisements.

—$5 million to $10 million for hardcore pornography, which Sampson described as material surreptitiously sold under the counter even though it was little more explicit than erotica sold openly.

Reds Strike Along DMZ

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese gunners today unleashed their heaviest attacks in two weeks along the demilitarized zone. The United States retaliated with a land, sea and air bombardment that extended into the southern half of the buffer zone.

North Vietnamese gunners fired more than 550 rockets and mortars during the morning at five South Vietnamese bases along the DM and an armored cavalry column in the region.

Informed sources said six South Vietnamese troops were wounded in the attacks. The U.S. Command said there were no American casualties among the artillerymen, radio operators and advisers supporting the South Vietnamese.

U.S. B2 bombers, American land guns and howitzers just below the DMZ, and three 7th Fleet destroyers and cruisers in the Tonkin Gulf went into action. The shelled or bombed suspected troop positions, rocket and mortar launching sites and munitions depots inside the southern half of the DM and for several miles to the south of the zone.

New Parachute System Tested By Space Agency

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration says testing will begin Friday on the parachute system designed to land instrument packages on Mars in 1976.

The tests at the Defense Department's facility at El Centro will involve a 53-foot diameter main parachute and a deployment charge carried inside a drop vehicle 10 feet long and 20 inches in diameter.

A B57 airplane will release the test vehicle at 50,000 feet, after which two small parachutes will be deployed to slow the container for release of the main chute by an explosive charge.

The parachute system, dubbed the Viking, is being developed to land two packages of scientific instruments on Mars after a year's journey from earth.

Peace Mood Fades Out In Korea

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — The peace mood in Korea sank today as North Korea and the United Nations Command accused each other of creating tension and hostile provocation on the armistice line.

The exchange of accusations came at the 321st session of the Military Armistice Commission at this truce village, where South and North Korean Red Cross officials are scheduled to have their fourth meeting Friday.

Maj. Gen. Han Yong-ok, North Korean senior delegate, charged the U.N. Command with 'the provocative and hostile act of firing tens of thousands of rounds' from large-caliber machine guns and other heavy and automatic weapons into the Communist side of the demilitarized zone last Friday and Saturday.

Rear Adm. Francis D. Foley, the U.N. Command's senior member, said the trouble started when North Korean machine-guns "illegally laced in the DMZ fired continuously into a search area" in the South where defending troops were hunting for four North Korean intruders sighted on the south bank of the river Friday.

Relaxed tensions in Korea began Aug. 20, when South and North Korean Red Cross officials met in the first officially approved contact between the two Koreas since the Korean war.

Friday's fourth talk is to prepare for preliminary Red Cross negotiations scheduled begin on Sept. 20 at Panmunjom on the fate of 10 million separated families.

The firm of Ranney Water Systems, Columbus, was the apparent low bidder on construction of recreation facilities at Deer Creek Lake it was announced today by the United States Army Engineers, Huntington, W. Va., district.

The Columbus firm submitted a bid of $1,123,922.35. The government estimate for the work was $1,111,705.

The work consists essentially of constructing four wash houses, six comfort stations, a check-in building, all concrete masonry buildings with cedar siding; a cedar sided frame water treatment building, a 100,000 gallon elevated water tank, 232 camping sites with individual underground electric service, all associated electric, water and sewage distribution systems, bituminous paved access roads and parking lots, aggregate surfaced trailer pull-offs and access roads and seeding of disturbed areas.

A total of nine firms submitted bids for the work. Second low bid was made by Nurrie Construction Co., Muskogee, Okla., in the amount of $1,126,144 and the third low bid by A. G. Proctor Co. Inc., Aurora, Colo., in the amount of $1,155,044.

Work on the project is to begin within 10 days of the awarding of the bid and is to be completed within 540 days.

The Highway Department is losing 750 employees, but director J. Phillip Richie has said many of those were included in layoffs announced earlier this summer because of failure of the gasoline tax to produce as much revenue as was expected.

The Health Department is down for 22 layoffs at a saving of about $12,000 per month.

But personnel supervisor Paul Butterbaugh said only seven of these are actual layoffs. The rest are vacancies that will not be filled or employees whose salaries will now be paid entirely from federal funds.

Officials don't know how many of the workers being laid off will be rehired until the Senate decides whether it will fund the state with a personal income tax or a sales-tax hike.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices registered advances in today's slow trading as investors began to bargain hunt.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose to 902.31, up 4.24.

Advances led declines by a small margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said investors were bargain hunting after the profit taking that occurred earlier in the week. They said trading usually is slow the week before the Labor Day holiday.

More Judges Said Not Needed

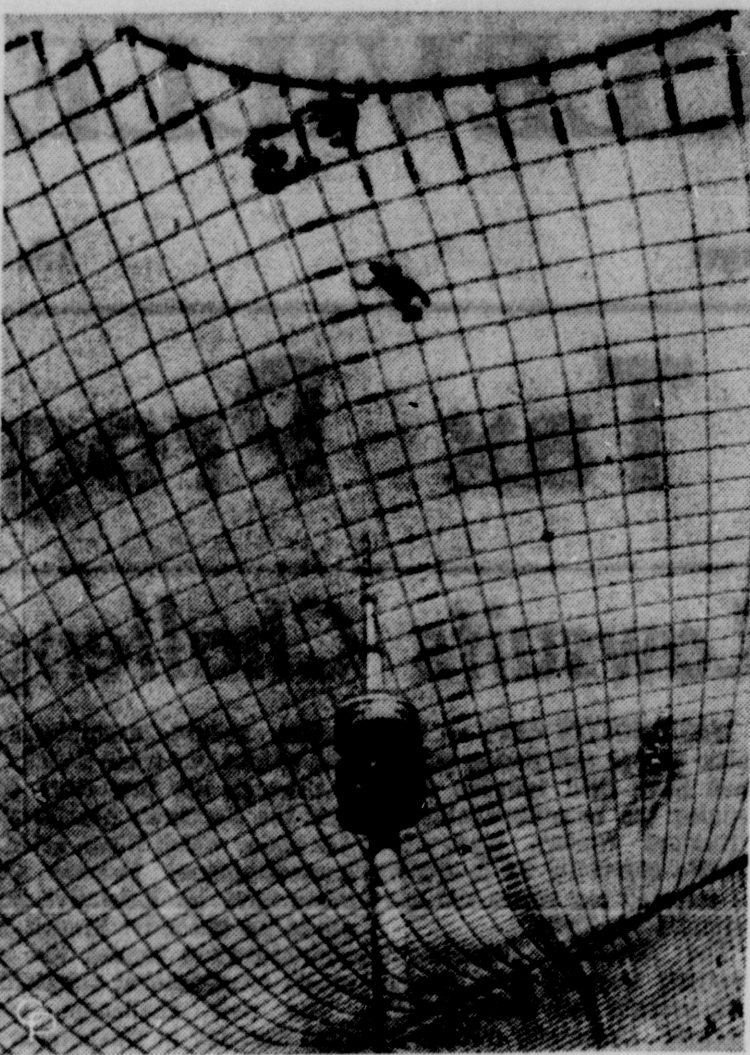

CINCINNATI (AP) — Simon Leis Jr., Hamilton County Prosecutor, said today he will take court action next week to block the election of four additional judges to the Hamilton County Municipal Court.

Leis said he would act on the request of attorney James Rimbo who called Tuesday for a taxpayers suit to block the expansion of the court from nine to 13 jurists.

Leis, in a statement, said the Hamilton County Common Pleas Court will be asked to resolve the question. Leis said it was his opinion that the extra judges were not needed.

ENGAGED 51 YEARS AGO, NOW WED—The former Frieda Callies, 79, and Edward Ward, 75, look happy after their marriage in St. Louis, where they first became engaged in 1920. At that time Ward had to return to his native Leeds, England, and they corresponded for 20 years. Then Ward wed, and that ended the correspondence until 1964, after his wife died. Then the situation developed to this.

WHERE'S THE SPIDER?—A trio of workmen look like flies caught in a vast web as they labor on a huge rooftop being installed over parts of buildings to be used in the 1972 Olympic Games in Munich, West Germany. The netting, along with plastic-glass plates, will cover the swimming hall and other installations.

U.S. Pornography Explicit, More Open, Panelist Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Openly sold and shown American pornography has become as explicit as anything in Denmark, says a presidential pornography commission researcher, and is probably about a $200 million-a-year industry. John S. Sampson, who was a commission staff member, said a reasonable estimate for U.S. hardcore pornography—stag films and other erotica sold under the counter—is $5 million to $10 million a year although reliable figures don't exist.

Sampson's 200-page report on American pornography traffic and distribution as of August 1970, made for the Commission on Obscenity and Pornography that dissolved last year, was published this week.

Explicit 16-millimeter pornographic films shown in public theaters in many large U.S. cities "do not differ one iota" from those in Denmark, Sampson said. He said American "adults only" paperbacks and magazines differ only in that they have more text along with the erotic photographs.

Calling previous unofficial estimates of a $2.5-billion-a-year U.S. pornography industry "gross exaggerations," Sampson said the commission staff's 15-month study indicated annual sales as of last summer were about $200 million.

The commission survey found an annual U.S. pornography receipts of: —$60 million to $70 million for sexploitation films such as "The Notorious Daughter of Fanny Hill" regularly shown in about 600 of the nation's 13,700 theaters.

—$70 million to $90 million for sales of 8 to 12 million sexually oriented magazines and 25 to 30 million pornographic paperback books sold in 850 "adults only" bookstores and 1,425 restricted sections of magazine and newspaper shops.

Reds Strike Along DMZ

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese gunners today unleashed their heaviest attacks in two weeks along the demilitarized zone. The United States retaliated with a land, sea and air bombardment that extended into the southern half of the buffer zone.

North Vietnamese gunners fired more than 550 rockets and mortars during the morning at five South Vietnamese bases along the DMZ and an armored cavalry column in the region.

Informed sources said six South Vietnamese troops were wounded in the attacks. The U.S. Command said there were no American casualties among the artillerymen, radio operators and advisers supporting the South Vietnamese.

U.S. B52 bombers, American land guns and howitzers just below the DMZ, and three 7th Fleet destroyers and cruisers in the Tonkin Gulf went into action. The shelled or bombed suspected troop positions, rocket and mortar launching sites and munitions depots inside the southern half of the DMZ and for several miles to the south of the zone.

New Parachute System Tested By Space Agency

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration says testing will begin Friday on the parachute system designed to land instrument packages on Mars in 1976.

The tests at the Defense Department's facility at El Centro will involve a 53-foot diameter main parachute and a deployment vehicle carried inside a drop vehicle 10 feet long and 20 inches in diameter.

A B57 airplane will release the test vehicle at 50,000 feet, after which two small parachutes will be deployed to slow the container for release of the main chute by an explosive charge.

The parachute system, dubbed the Viking, is being developed to land two packages of scientific instruments on Mars after a year's journey from earth.

Peace Mood Fades Out In Korea

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — The peace mood in Korea sank today as North Korea and the United Nations Command accused each other of creating tension and hostile provocation on the armistice line.

The exchange of accusations came at the 321st session of the Military Armistice Commission at this truce village, where South and North Korean Red Cross officials are scheduled to have their fourth meeting Friday.

Maj. Gen. Han Yong-ok, North Korean senior delegate, charged the U.N. Command with "the provocative and hostile act of firing tens of thousands of rounds" from large-caliber machine guns and other heavy and automatic weapons into the Communist side of the demilitarized zone last Friday and Saturday.

Rear Adm. Francis D. Foley, the U.N. Command's senior member, said the trouble started when North Korean machine-guns "illegally" fired into the DMZ fired continuously into a search area in the South where defending troops were hunting for four North Korean intruders sighted on the south bank of the river Friday.

Relaxed tensions in Korea began Aug. 20, when South and North Korean Red Cross officials met in the first officially approved contact between the two Koreas since the Korean war.

Friday's fourth talk is to prepare for preliminary Red Cross negotiations scheduled begin on Sept. 20 at Panmunjom on the fate of 10 million separated families.

Deer Creek Camp Area Bids Opened

The firm of Ranney Water Systems, Columbus, was the apparent low bidder on construction of recreation facilities at Deer Creek Lake it was announced today by the United States Army Engineers, Huntington, W. Va., district.

The Columbus firm submitted a bid of $1,123,922.35. The government estimate for the work was $1,111,705.

The work consists essentially of constructing four wash houses, six comfort stations, a check-in building, all concrete masonry buildings with cedar siding; a cedar sided frame water treatment building, a 100,000 gallon elevated water tank, 232 camping sites with individual underground electric service, all associated electric, water and sewage distribution systems, bituminous paved access roads and parking lots, aggregate surfaced trailer pull-offs and access roads and seeding of disturbed areas.

A total of nine firms submitted bids for the work. Second low bid was made by Nurrie Construction Co., Muskogee, Okla., in the amount of $1,126,144 and the third low bid by A. G. Proctor Co. Inc., Aurora, Colo., in the amount of $1,155,044.

Work on the project is to begin within 10 days of the awarding of the bid and is to be completed within 540 days.

But Assistant Director Robert Canar said some of the employees are simply moving up their retirement, while others are routine transfers or resignations who will not be replaced, at least for the time being.

The Highway Department is losing 750 employees, but director J. Phillip Richle has said many of those were included in layoffs announced earlier this summer because of failure of the gasoline tax to produce as much revenue as was expected.

The Health Department is down for 22 layoffs at a saving of about $12,000 per month.

But personnel supervisor Paul Butterbaugh said only seven of these are actual layoffs. The rest are vacancies that will not be filled or employees whose salaries will now be paid entirely from federal funds.

Officials don't know how many of the workers being laid off will be rehired until the Senate decides whether it will fund the state with a personal income tax or a sales tax hike.

Stock List Posts Gain

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices registered advances in today's slow trading as investors began to bargain hunt.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose to 902.31, up 4.24.

Advances led declines by a small margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said investors were bargain hunting after the profit taking that occurred earlier in the week. They said trading usually is slow the week before the Labor Day holiday.

Airlines, metals, utilities farm implements and mail order-retail were mixed. Rubber issues were off. All other stock categories were higher.

Wheeling For Oldsters

Bicycling has come full circle. Not many years ago, almost every child wanted his own bicycle. Many got them, and those who did rode them. It was taken for granted that was what bicycles were for, and nobody paid them much mind.

But then adults began to discover the joys of bicycling, and the old order changed. Bicycle sales boomed as the older generation began pedaling in earnest. Too earnestly, perhaps, to enjoy what they were doing.

Few adults, it seems, take out the two wheeler for the sheer exuberance of self propulsion. They do it because it is good for the heart and related machinery, and less tiring than jogging.

Or they do it because they are concerned about pollution — so greatly concerned they don't mind exhausting themselves for the cause. In a few cases, they even ride to get somewhere.

And with all this dedicated bicycling has come a demand for public attention. Things like special bicycle paths and protected parking places and even safety inspections.

That's what comes from doing something one is not young enough to enjoy.

Profitable 'Dollar'

There is nothing quite like making money to make money, or at least so the U.S. Mint figures in its sale of the Eisenhower silver dollar. Director of the Mint Mary T. Brooks estimates the government will profit by more than $100 million in the sale of 150 million of the coins over the next several years.

That is not a surprising estimate in view of the price of the coins, 130 million of which will be mass produced and sold to the public at $3 each. Highly polished, high relief proof coins are being sold at $10 each.

Thus the latest edition of the silver dollar, the first minted since 1935, is not a general circulation coin. It is a piece designed for the collector and investor, both professional and amateur, with the possibility that it may increase in value over the years. It is a unique coin for the Mint, in that respect, and considering the prices charged, a profitable one as well.

Limited Vocabulary

American industrial genius finally has done it. A talking computer. The machine developed by the International Business Machine Corp. is not much of a conversationalist. It only understands 13 words. But it talks back and asks a lot of questions.

The machine is not available to customers. It is used by IBM's servicemen in diagnosing and testing terminal problems. When dialed direct from any point in the country, the machine runs through a list of recorded questions.

It pauses long enough for the caller to answer in numerical code. After it has the pertinent information, it diagnoses the problem.

The machine has an assistant, a human, to whom callers are switched if they can't make themselves understood by the mechanical voice. A sort of first assistant in charge of communication gaps, as it were.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — The most difficult economic problem now facing the country, but the one whose solution promises the greatest benefits, is that of lagging productivity, or output per manhour.

It is also a problem loaded with political ramifications involving labor and management and can, therefore, be resolved only by the most sensitive handling. Unlike the imposition of a freeze, productivity cannot be improved by edict.

Any improvement must come from encouraging business to use more imaginative management, techniques, plants and machinery, and by inspiring labor to give a good day's work for a good day's pay.

In that way, the experts say, wages and profits will rise and price can remain relatively stable. The greater efficiency in other words, could be translated into a better life for all.

But, Americans are not receiving the benefits of rising productivity. The United States has traditionally been proud of its imagination and knowhow, but it doesn't show up in the figures.

A Labor Department study shows, in fact, that the United States had the smallest gain in output per manhour of any large industrialized nation during the decade of the 1960s.

Compare the growth of U.S. productivity, 34.7 per cent, with the gain by Japan of 188.5 per cent and you have some idea of current problems and a forecast of things to come.

True, the United States has the largest production plants and so cannot show the big percentage of smaller economies.

But such mature, highly industrialized economies as Sweden still rose more than 100 per cent.

Making the job of improving the U.S. record a tougher one than it is are the different attitudes held by management and labor. Management blames restrictive union rules for the problem. Unions blame heavy-handed management.

The answer probably contains much of each—and something more. Specifically, the United States has the lowest rate of capital investment to gross national product of any modern economy.

While recognizing that investments must be made in machinery and equipment—in keeping its plants modern and competitive—the United States still doesn't make those investments.

A private study shows that only 14 per cent of the U.S. gross national product is invested in residential construction and in plant and equipment. In the European Economic Community it is 24 per cent.

It is this disproportion that the administration now seeks to correct through a 10 per cent investment tax credit. And in encouraging companies to improve their plants, a blow also may be struck against unemployment.

How would it? By spurring the lagging capital goods manufacturers who have been unable to provide enough jobs while they remain in a quagmire partly of their own making.

A revealing analysis shows that while people associate unemployment with aerospace industries, the bulk of the jobless live in the old industrial areas from whence come our capital goods.

The new economic plan therefore is aimed directly by improving both employment and the efficiency of employees and employers.

A Virginia member of the House of Representatives has introduced legislation under which all residential parts of the District of Columbia would be ceded to Maryland. Most Marylanders, no doubt think that's a capital idea.

If that happens it won't be a gift but just a repayment of a loan. Most of the area was originally part of Maryland.

HOW DOES a coma differ from fainting?

Mr. G. A., Del.

Dear Mr. A.: Both are a state of unconsciousness. Fainting is a temporary one due to a sudden loss of blood flow to the brain.

The most common causes of fainting are emotional upsets and a sudden drop in blood sugar. There are many other reasons, most of which are not serious.

Coma, on the other hand is a serious state of unconsciousness from which the patient cannot easily be aroused.

Severe injury to the brain, fractured skull, overdose of alcohol and sleeping pills, infections of the brain and spinal cord, kidney disorders complicated by uremia, brain tumors and strokes are the major causes responsible for coma. There are others, of course.

Each must be definitely established before precise treatment is begun.

Where is the pancreas located and what does it do?

Mrs. N. J., Kans.

Dear Mrs. J.: The pancreas is a remarkable organ which has not yet revealed all the secrets of its body.

It is a yellowish gland about six inches long and lies deep in the abdomen behind the stomach and the duodenum, the beginning of the small intestine.

This amazing gland produces the hormone insulin which plays such an important role in the disorder of diabetes. It also manufactures a variety of enzymes which are responsible for the proper digestion of foods.

This tiny "chemical factory" is undoubtedly one of the most important glands for the maintenance of good health.

What causes a hammer toe? Can it be corrected without surgery?

Miss I. S., Ga.

Dear Miss S.: A hammer toe can be described as one that is bent on itself. It can be annoying with certain types of shoes. Almost always it is due to some birth defect. Injury or poorly fitted shoes may also be responsible.

It is extremely difficult to correct a hammer toe without surgery. It must be remembered that often an operation is the most conservative way to handle such a problem.

Labor's Economic Thinking

BY JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

It wasn't so long ago that George Meany, head of the AFL-CIO, was saying that labor would be willing to accept wage controls if they were bracketed with price controls. When Mr. Meany got what he had asked for, he decided he didn't like it. He said that fairness also demanded a limit on dividends and profits. Maybe he had to take this stand to satisfy the grumbling among leaders of the locals, but taken at face value Meany's current complaints make little connection with the logic of economics. How, he should have asked himself, can a business get increased profits out of a price freeze save by improving productivity, which, in turn, would cause investors to plow their profits back into the business and so put the unemployed to work?

Mr. Meany's lack of logic is symptomatic of what has happened to the union movement in this country: it has lost sight of the fact that there must be fluidity to an economic system if it is to work at all. I don't like wage-and-price controls any more than Mr. Meany does, but if there is some room left for inventive souls to improve productivity within the ceilings we may be able to stand the wage-price freeze for at least for at least a brief period.

Official labor never seems to understand that business must continue to hope that it can squeeze out a profit margin if it is to go on at all. Ever since 1936, official labor in this country has pushed too hard. It got too big a wage increase in 1937, and so brought on a recurrence of the 1929 depression. In New York City the printers' union has won such tremendous wage increases that 14 out of 17 newspapers have disappeared since I first went to work for the New York Times in 1926. In the coal country John L. Lewis's victories forced the speedy mechanization of the mines. There is cause for all greedy men, and Mr. Meany is inviting trouble when he complains about a mere 90 days of temporary hardship.

The New York printers might contest this statement, but they, too, as I learned inadvertently the other day, are tempting fate. Seeking information about the effect of the increase in postal rates on the magazine business after reading a despairing editorial in Life, I asked President James W. McSwiney of the Mead Corporation, big paper makers, what his industry was doing to cut the cost of the raw materials that go into our publications. Since magazine postage rates are tied into weight and may rise as much as 145 per cent in the next five years, something must be done if magazines are to continue in business. I learned that if a publication can change from 36-lb. paper to 34-lb., it can squeeze out 5 1/2 per cent more paper per ton. This means a cost savings on both the production of the magazine and the postage.

The biggest news contributed by Mr. McSwiney, however, was not what technological improvement in paper making might do to keep our magazines afloat in a time of post office price inflation. He told me something about his company's prototype operation of something called the jet printing principle. Some time—say five to ten years from now—newspapers, magazines, and books, will be printed by jetting ink at incredibly high speeds from a nozzle without contact with the paper. The placement of the ink globules will be controlled by a computer, which will shower them out to form the requisite letters and numerals.

Speeds of 2,000-feet-a-minute have been achieved in laboratory experiments, but as yet only on a narrow web. The technology, says Mr. McSwiney, is right, though, more development is needed to improve quality and provide greater widths. A new generation of computers will surely come along to improve the programming and control for jet printing.

What this means is that printers are fated to become anachronisms. Bert Powers, the boss of the New York printers, may be dead by then, but the younger printers, trying to hang on, will probably not remember him with any great affection.

SENTIMENTAL RIDE—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heiser (top) go for a sentimental ride in a cherry picker (lower) following their wedding in Catasauqua, Pa. They met 10 months before when the groom was giving free rides in the 'picker during a demonstration.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Sept. 1 the 244th day of 1971. There are 121 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1939, World War II began as Germany invaded Poland.

On this date: In 1682, 100 English quakers led by William Penn sailed for America.

In 1807, a court in Richmond, Va., acquitted Aaron Burr. The Revolutionary War officer and former vice president had been charged with treason.

In 1862, liquor rations were abolished in the U.S. Navy. In 1923, an earthquake devastated the Japanese cities of Tokyo and Yokohama.

In 1945, Japan surrendered aboard the U.S. battleship Missouri at the end of World War II.

In 1946, the people of Greece voted in a plebiscite to recall King George II. Ten years ago: The Soviet Union exploded an atomic bomb above ground in central Asia after a stalemate with the United States over limiting nuclear testing.

Five years ago: It was disclosed that U.S. forces in South Vietnam had passed the 300,000 mark.

One year ago: The Pentagon announced a new cutback of U.S. troops in South Vietnam, saying two combat brigades would be disbanded.

Scientists are trying to find out if they can modify hurricanes. If they succeed it certainly won't be just a breeze.

Nationalist China's table tennis scores a march on Communist China by coming to the U. S. for a tour months ahead of a proposed visit by a Red Chinese squad. Oh, well — guess that's the way the Ping Pong ball bounces.

The Earth's axis, say scientists, shifts some six inches every day. No wonder things always seem to be out of kilter.

Labor's Economic Thinking

BY JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

It wasn't so long ago that George Meany, head of the AFL-CIO, was saying that labor would be willing to accept wage controls if they were bracketed with price controls. When Mr. Meany got what he had asked for, he decided he didn't like it. He said that fairness also demanded a limit on dividends and profits. Maybe he had to take this stand to satisfy the grumbling among leaders of the locals, but taken at face value Meany's current complaints make little connection with the logic of economics. How, he should have asked himself, can a business get increased profits out of a price freeze save by improving productivity, which, in turn, would cause investors to plow their profits back into the business and so put the unemployed to work?

Mr. Meany's lack of logic is symptomatic of what has happened to the union movement in this country: it has lost sight of the fact that there must be fluidity to an economic system if it is to work at all. I don't like wage-and-price controls any more than Mr. Meany does, but if there is some room left for inventive souls to improve productivity within the ceilings we may be able to stand the wage-price freeze for at least for at least a brief period.

Official labor never seems to understand that business must continue to hope that it can squeeze out a profit margin if it is to go on at all. Ever since 1936, official labor in this country has pushed too hard. It got too big a wage increase in 1937, and so brought on a recurrence of the 1929 depression. In New York City the printers' union has won such tremendous wage increases that 14 out of 17 newspapers have disappeared since I first went to work for the New York Times in 1926. In the coal country John L. Lewis's victories forced the speedy mechanization of the mines. There is condescension for all greedy men, and Mr. Meany is inviting trouble when he complains about a mere 90 days of temporary hardship.

The New York printers might contest this statement, but they, too, as I learned inadvertently the other day, are tempting fate. Seeking information about the effect of the increase in postal rates on the magazine business after reading a despairing editorial in Life, I asked President James W. McSwiney of the Mead Corporation, big paper makers, what his industry was doing to cut the cost of the raw materials that go into our publications. Since magazine postage rates are tied into weight and may rise as much as 145 per cent in the next five years, something must be done if magazines are to continue in business. I learned that if a publication can change from 36-lb. paper to 34-lb., it can squeeze out 5 1/2 per cent more paper per ton. This means a cost savings on both the production of the magazine and the postage.

The biggest news contributed by Mr. McSwiney, however, was not what technological improvement in paper making might do to keep our magazines afloat in a time of post office price inflation. He told me something about his company's prototype operation of something called the jet printing principle. Some time — say five to ten years from now — newspapers, magazines, and books, will be printed by jetting ink at incredibly high speeds from a nozzle without contact with the paper. The placement of the ink globules will be controlled by a computer, which will shower them out to form the requisite letters and numerals.

Speeds of 2,000-feet-a-minute have been achieved in laboratory experiments, but as yet only on a narrow web. The technology, says Mr. McSwiney, is right, though, more development is needed to improve quality and provide greater widths. A new generation of computers will surely come along to improve the programming and control for jet printing. What this means is that printers are fated to become anachronisms. Bert Powers, the boss of the New York printers, may be dead by then, but the younger printers, trying to hang on, will probably not remember him with any great affection.

Miss Genevieve Alley, Circleville, won second place in the 1951 Ohio women's horseshoe pitching championship contest. Miss Alley was the Pickaway County home demonstration agent and winner of the 1950 state title.

Circleville council passed legislation permitting any resident of the county between the ages of 24 and 64 living within the county to be employed by the city police and fire departments. Prior to passage of this bill, only city residents age 24 to 60, could apply.

In the mid afternoon homes and business houses in Whisler were jarred and shaken by sounds-described as similar violent explosions, but no damage was discovered. The flight of a jet plane was blamed since seven huge RB-45 jet bombers arrived at Lockbourne, some of 40 such ships to be stationed there.

A petition was filed in the Pickaway County Board of Elections office as part of a move to institute a city manager form of government here.

Msgr. George Mason, chaplain of St. Vincent's orphanage in Columbus, was assigned to succeed Father Edward Reidy as pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Circleville.

Burger Eases Busing Necessity

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger's reminder that racial balance may vary from school to school may indicate more latitude in the design of desegregation plans than some officials had realized.

Burger issued the reminder Tuesday in denying a stay for a desegregation plan which provides for the busing of 15,000-16,000 of the 46,000 pupils in the Winston-Salem and Forsyth County, N. C., school system.

The chief justice acted as presiding district judge for North Carolina. When the Supreme Court is not in session, a justice may rule on a case in his judicial district.

In rejecting the Winston-Salem district's request for a stay, Burger held that the application did not adequately list hardships that allegedly would result from busing.

Burger said he was concerned that the school board mistakenly thought it had to achieve a white-black ratio in every school identical with the over-all district ratio.

In an April 20 decision dealing primarily with desegregation of schools at Charlotte, N.C., the Supreme Court held that large-scale busing is an appropriate means to achieve racial desegregation.

But the opinion, written by Burger, also said: "The constitutional command to desegregate schools does not mean that every school in every community must always reflect the racial composition of the school system as a whole."

Racial balance in individual schools is only one of several methods of determining if segregation exists, Burger said.

John Kiger, chairman of the Winston-Salem school board, said he still hopes to get the district's appeal before the entire court. He said he was encouraged by Burger's opinion on the racial balance requirements.

The Rev. J. T. McMillan, head of the NAACP chapter in Winston-Salem, said of Burger's opinion: "We can now get down to the business of education and to the business of respecting every individual as an individual."

Several school systems have asked for stays of busing orders, but so far none has received one.

In Alabama, the legislature moved closer to enactment of a bill offered by Gov. George C. Wallace which would restrict court-ordered busing of pupils if their parents determine that "time or distance of travel is so great as to risk the health or safety of the child or significantly impinge on the educational process."

The wording comes almost verbatim from the Supreme Court's April 20 decision.

Meanwhile more Southern schools opened Tuesday under new desegregation orders. In most cases, compliance with federal mandates was the rule.

Property Crimes Hike Insurance Across State

CINCINNATI (AP) — Soaring property crime rates in Ohio continue to hamper efforts by the insurance industry to level off costs, the Insurance Information Institute says.

From 1967 to 1970, larcenies of $50 or more reported in Ohio climbed 96 per cent to 79,435, according to the institute which is a public relations arm of the insurance industry.

Robberies rose 56 per cent from 9,934 to 15,539 during the three-year period, auto thefts jumped 54 per cent from 34,056 to 52,488, and burglaries were up 43 per cent from 63,540 to 90,953.

The institute pointed out that every property crime increased every year during the period, creating a twofold effect — a tightening of the market for insurance at standard rates and increases in these rates.

Boy Scouts Win Litter Drive Prizes

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Owens-Illinois, Inc., has announced the top three winners in a nationwide anti-litter contest.

More than 1,000 Boy Scout troops participated in the contest with imaginative anti-litter campaigns.

Scout Troop 46, from Lynchburg, Va., took first place after building a huge "litter monster" filled with trash collected along a two-mile stretch of highway.

The troop also planted 1,000 pine seedlings and installed brightly painted trash barrels along the stretch of highway. Owens-Illinois will present the winning troop with $500 worth of scouting equipment.

Second prize of $300 worth of equipment went to Troop 433 in Greenhills Ohio. The Greenhills Scouts won the prize for their continuing "Project Pick-up," which is an effort to keep a local woods cleaned up. The project is now in its second year.

Troop 12, of Lutz, Fla., won the third prize with a recycling program for metal, paper and glass found along more than 50 miles of highway. The scouts constructed a "litter glitter" replete with a can crushing machine, to collect the trash. They will receive $200 in equipment.

London Man Dies In Gasoline Blaze

LONDON, Ohio (AP) — Lawrence Fuller, 79, of London was fatally burned Tuesday while cutting grass at the Sexton and Oak Hills Cemetery.

Fuller received third - degree burns over 45 per cent of his body when gasoline, with which he was filling the tractor's fuel tank, ignited.

Dollar Gains Against Mark; Ruble Boosted

LONDON (AP) — The U.S. dollar gained strength against the West German mark and the French franc today while holding steady against the Japanese yen.

The wave of monetary changes in the wake of President Nixon's New Economic Policy finally reached Moscow. The Soviet government increased the value in rubles of 15 foreign currencies but maintained the previous dollar rate of $1.11 to the ruble.

On the Frankfurt money market, the dollar opened at 3.4 marks compared with 3.3965 at the close Tuesday. Dealers said the improvement was due to a strong demand for dollars. The opening price represented a 7.1 per cent upward revaluation of the mark against the dollar's official 3.66 parity, a rate abandoned last May when the mark was set free to float.

On the Paris free market, the dollar recovered from Tuesday's sharp slump to trade for 5.33 to 5.35 francs, equivalent to a devaluation of about 3.8 per cent from the official parity of 5.55 francs.

The dollar had closed Tuesday at 5.31 francs, its lowest level since the French set up a two-tier market Aug. 23.

On the official market, in bank-to-bank trading, the dollar pulled slightly off the floor level of 5.5125.

On the Tokyo market, the dollar opened and closed at the same interbank rate, 338.60 yen, equivalent to a 6.5 per cent decline from the dollar's official rate of 360 yen.

The dollar bought 40.71 pence in London, down slightly Tuesday. The official quotation was $2.456 to the pound compared with $2.4525 at Tuesday night's close.

Germantown Girl's Death Drug-Caused

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Police say the death of Kathryn Lee Witt, 18, of Germantown, Ohio apparently was caused by an overdose of a homemade drug called MDA, a combination of cocaine and methedrine.

The girl's body was found Saturday night in a room at the Theta Chi fraternity house, which is opened to renters during summer months.

Castro Likely To Reject Continuation Of Airlift

By LEWIS GULICK Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Department officials say the United States has asked Cuba to continue the six-year-old Cuban refugee airlift. But there appears scant prospect Premier Fidel Castro will say yes.

Havana's intent to shut down the U.S.-financed shuttle flights from Varadero to Miami was announced Tuesday. Still awaiting Cuban approval for travel to America are some 100,000 Cubans with relatives in the United States.

The officials said the Swiss Embassy, representing the United States in Havana, has urged the Castro government to keep the airlift going until all who want reunion with their families have left Cuba.

If the twice-a-day flights end, a unique chapter in the history of large-scale immigration to this country will be closed.

A total of 246,000 Cubans have flown here under a 1965 understanding designed to bring in from Cuba relatives of refugees already in the United States.

Washington has spent some $600 million on the refugee program, including about $1 million a year for the airlift. U.S. authorities rate it an outstanding success.

They say the refugees generally have adjusted well and work hard in their new lives in America; that one in nine here is on relief, and that of 12,800 college education loans to the Cubans, only 150 are delinquent.

Critics, especially in such areas as South Florida where many of the Cubans stay, say the refugee program has contributed to joblessness and other burdens borne by Americans. Some say the airlift gave Castro an escape hatch for those who would make trouble for him at home.

State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey said Tuesday that Cuban authorities informed the Swiss Embassy in Havana that the airlift would be interrupted for several weeks starting today.

During this period, the Cubans said, they will be processing the final 1,000 names of 33,000 who are registered to leave under a previously agreed U.S.-Cuban master list but have not yet come out.

After these have left, the Cubans said, the airlift will end. It has been ferrying 3,000 to 4,000 refugees a month.

Still not approved by Cuba for the exodus are about 6,500 family members of 2,500 unaccompanied Cuban children already here and more than 94,000 other relatives whose names were supplied by Cubans in this country.

Why Castro is stopping the flights is a matter of conjecture here, but his public posture does not indicate he is about to change his mind.

swam alongside their boat for some time. It was assumed Lake Champlain had a rival for the legendary, if not real, Loch Ness monster in Britain. The sighting report in 1871 was not the last from Lake Champlain, nor from eastern waters of the United States.

Next, headline stories in the 1870's on horse-head monsters came from crewmen of U.S. Lifesaving Station No. 1, at Sandy Hook, N.J. They swore seeing one at least three hundred feet of undulating length. They were unanimously of the opinion that the creature, with a trunk as large in diameter as a beer barrel all the way from the tail to that equine head, was absolutely not a whale. The creature, they emphasized, had eyes as large as saucers and a countenance such as to discourage launching of a boat for closer observation.

A New York newspaper published a half-page drawing of the "Great Sea Serpent," based on descriptions by assumed eye-witnesses, that brought throngs to both New York and New Jersey sides of Sandy Hook in following weeks. Naturally stories of sightings in the vicinity multiplied, as they had at Lake Champlain; also at Loch Ness and other waters.

Bernard Houvelmans, a Belgian zoologist, was to compile and publish a fascinating examination of reports. In the Wake of the Sea-Serpents (Hill & Wang), as a sequel to his On the Track of Unknown Animals. He found persuasive evidence in reports of merchant-ship and naval captains.

A pucky artist for a national magazine prophesied in 1909, when Louis Bleriot made the first flight over English Channel, that air serpents would be seen. He did not guess they would be saucer-shaped.

Miss Brenda S. Hollar, James K. Legg Are Wed

CPL. AND MRS. JAMES K. LEGG

Miss Brenda S. Hollar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Nye, 1062 Mulberry Road and Cpl. James K. Legg, son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Legg, 541 Mower Road, exchanged wedding vows 7:30 p.m. Aug. 17th in the Free Will Baptist Church.

The double ring service was performed by the Rev. Charles Wright before the altar enhanced with vases of yellow gladiolus. The pews were marked with white satin bows.

A program of pre-nuptial music was presented by Mrs. James Blankenship.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She selected for her wedding a white satin floor length gown featuring a lace empire bodice accented with lavender satin ribbon and long puffed sleeves. Her elbow length veil was caught to a cluster of petals adorned with seed pearls and sequins. The bride carried an arrangement of white and yellow cranes and she wore a pearl necklace belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. Leonard Coffland.

Maid of honor was Miss Teresa Ankrom, a cousin of the bride. She was dressed in a lavender dotted Swiss gown with an empire waistline accented with white satin ribbon and long puffed sleeves. Her brief white net veil was held by a lavender bow and she carried a single long stemmed yellow rose.

Krista Hatfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hatfield, was flower girl and Roger Legg, brother of the groom was ring bearer.

Mr. James W. Legg was best man for his son. Ushers were Mr. Ty Ankrom, cousin of the bride and Mr. George Fletcher, brother-in-law of the groom.

Mrs. Nye was attired in a cream and blue dress with blue accessories and a yellow carnation corsage. Mrs. Legg wore a three piece brown knit suit with brown accessories and a white carnation corsage.

A reception in the church parlor immediately followed the ceremony. Miss Catherine R. Cruse Bride Of Bryan V. Tatman

The marriage of Miss Catherine R. Cruse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion C. Cruse, Route 2, Laurelville and Mr. Bryan V. Tatman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Tatman, Route 1, Kingston took place 7:30 p.m. Aug. 14th.

The Rev. Lynn E. Summers performed the double ring service before the altar in Laurelville Church of God. Two vases with white gladiolus, pompons and carnations graced the altar with matching arrangements of the piano and organ. White satin bows and daisies marked the pews.

A half hour of music preceded the ceremony played by Mrs. Jean Johnston, organist and Mrs. Nora Stump, pianist. Selections included "Great Is Thy Faithfulness," "The Lord Is My Shepherd," "O Promise Me," "I Love You Truly," "Somewhere," "Hawaiian Wedding Song," "A Perfect Love" and "Wedding Prayer" during the ceremony.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a white satin gown with an empire bodice with lace overlay, lace sleeves with ruffles at the wrists and a stand-up collar covered with lace. A white satin sash formed a bow at the back. The bride's shoulder length veil of illusion was held by a matching pillbox and she carried a colonial bouquet of red, white and blue carnations with white streamers. The gown and veil were made by the bride.

Maid of honor was Miss Judy Dennis, cousin of the bridegroom. She was in a powder blue chiffon gown with lace overlay. Her brief veil was held with a bow of material matching her gown. She carried a colonial bouquet of blue and white carnations with white streamers.

Miss Susan Cruse presided at the guest book and the Misses Vicki and Susan Cruse, assisted in opening the gifts. They are sisters of the bride.

Ronda Michelle Knapple, niece of the groom from Logan, was flower girl. She wore a blue flowered organza dress trimmed in white lace and pink satin bow. She carried a basket of rose petals decorated with white streamers.

Mr. Carl Adams of Stoutsville served as best man and Mr. Ronald Knapple, brother-in-law of the groom seated the guests. Mrs. Cruse wore a mint green A-line dress adorned with silver buttons and black and white accessories. Mrs. Tatman selected a lavender double knit A-line dress with Deep lavender lace trim and black and white accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations.

A reception at the home of the groom's parents followed the ceremony. The three tiered wedding cake placed on a pedestal was topped with miniature bride and groom figurines and surrounded with daisies. Hostesses were Mrs. Larry Ramsey, Mrs. Thelma Baum and Miss Linda Johnston.

The new Mrs. Tatman is a graduate of Laurelville High School and was employed by Zaner-Bloser Company in Columbus. Mr. Tatman graduated from Logan Elm High School, served two years in the Armed Forces with one year spent in Vietnam. He is employed by Anchor Hocking in Lancaster. The couple now resides at Route 1, Kingston.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Gahanna, Columbus, Ashville, Circleville, Logan, Amanda, Tarlton, Hallsville, Kingston, South Bloomingville and Rockbridge.

Bennis Assumes Top Post At UC

CINCINNATI (AP) — Dr. Warren G. Bennis assumed his duties today as president of the University of Cincinnati and prepared for a news conference as his first official act.

Bennis said Tuesday that during the news conference today he would discuss his views concerning higher education in this decade and his hopes for the University of Cincinnati.

Bennis, becoming the 18th president of the university, succeeded Dr. Walter Langsam who officially retired Tuesday and became UC president emeritus. Langsam had been president for 16 years.

From 1968 through the first part of July this year, Bennis had served as vice president for academic development at the State University of New York at Buffalo. Since arriving here July 10, Bennis has been meeting with UC administrators and deans, and has had luncheon meetings with city councilmen, corporation heads and community leaders.

DEMONSTRATION — Ascots are right in style these days and men who don't know exactly what to do with them might be surprised at how easy they are to tie. Here Countess Mara shows how: First, center counter-shaped drape around neck with bottom points even. Next, tie with a single over-hand knot. Then straighten the front and pull down so that both points meet. Tuck the ascot inside a sport shirt or sweater.

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Two catering trucks owned by a father and son were damaged within an hour of each other early this morning when explosive devices were thrown at them.

It was the second time in eight days someone had tried to destroy the trucks owned by Charles Crews Sr. of Willoughby, and Charles Crews Jr. of Cleveland.

The first truck, owned by Crews Jr., was parked at the Renner Sohio service station on West 117th St. when a cylinder-type device was thrown at it from a moving car. It landed five feet away, causing minor damage to the truck and blew out several windows at a nearby bowling alley.

An hour later, a car drove by Crews Sr.'s Willoughby home and an occupant inside the car threw what appeared to be a hand grenade which caused extensive damage to the truck, but did not injure anyone.

Booth Crews operate catering firms. Hand grenades had been found on their trucks Aug. 24, but they had been dismantled before they exploded.

Cool Weather Covers North; South Warm

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cool weather dominated the North from the Pacific Northwest to New England today while in the southern half of the nation warm air stretched from the Western deserts to the Atlantic.

Widely scattered thundershowers dampened the Gulf states and an area from the Rockies to the Great Lakes.

Idaho and Montana braced for a hint of winter as the forecast called for plunging temperatures and snow showers for elevations above 5,000 feet.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 94 at Phoenix, Ariz., to 41 at Houlton, Maine.

Mysterious Flying Grandma Dies In Holland

AMSTERDAM (AP) — Sarah Krasnoff, the 74-year-old Cleveland, Ohio, woman who flew back and forth across the Atlantic nearly every day this summer with her 14-year-old grandson, died today, her son-in-law reported.

Gelfand learned of the pair's location after the 76-year-old grandmother Mrs. Sarah Krasnoff, suffered a slight heart attack and doctors ordered her to bed Tuesday.

Cleveland attorney Gerard B. Chattman, representing Gelfand, said Gelfand left late Tuesday night for Amsterdam and was expected to arrive there early today.

Chattman said the pair disappeared July 9. He said Gelfand knew Mrs. Krasnoff had planned a trip to Israel, but became worried "when the weeks passed and there was no word from either of them."

The attorney said local law enforcement agencies and the FBI wouldn't help Gelfand find the pair because no wrong had been committed. Chattman said Gelfand's alarm grew when he found out the woman was withdrawing large amounts of money from banks.

"This they thought was totally out of character for her," Chattman said. "She lived very, very frugally."

The family learned through its travel agent that Mrs. Krasnoff was in Cleveland about eight days ago.

"She (Mrs. Krasnoff) hid at the airport and dashed to the plane at the last minute before anybody could stop her," Chattman said.

Chattman said the father learned last week that the pair had been on a flight from New York to Amsterdam aboard KLM, Royal Dutch Airlines, because airline officials became suspicious over the couple's nearly non-stop round trip and made checks.

He said later attempts from the Gelfands to find out if the pair had flown again were fruitless, with airline officials claiming such information was confidential.

Chattman said the reason for the flights by the woman and her apparent attempts to keep the boy away from his father were not known.

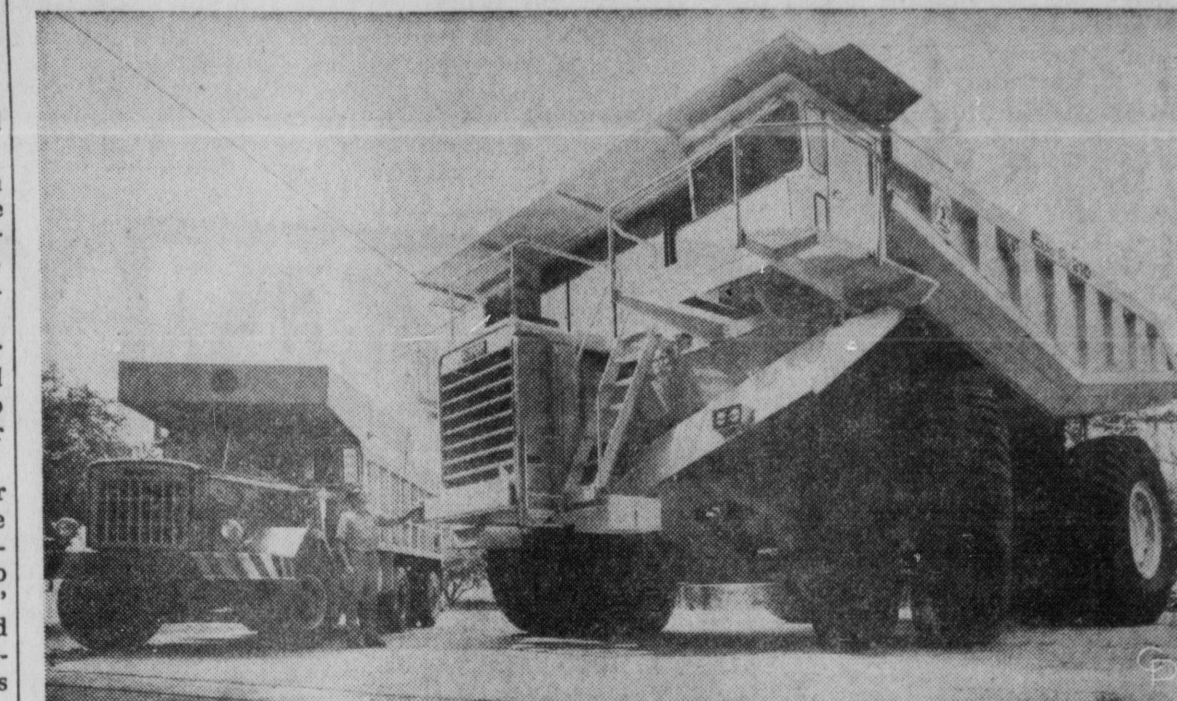

He said the boy's mother died several years ago at age 32 and when his father remarried, "the child preferred to stay on with the grandmother." He said the grandmother had often taken care of the boy because of his father's business commitments.

Chattman said that despite the fact the youth stayed with the grandmother, Gelfand kept in close touch with the boy, visited him often, and talked to him daily.

Airport employees in Amsterdam said the pair usually would arrive in the morning, stay for six hours and then fly back to New York.

When asked why they did it, the answer would be: "Grandma likes flying" or "My grandson wants to be a pilot."

Amsterdam police said they often investigated the arrivals of the pair, but found nothing out of the ordinary.

FOUR STORIES HIGH — The largest off-the-road dump truck ever built by White Motors dwarfs that ordinary-size big highway dump truck beside it in Cleveland. The giant construction vehicle, first ever designed for turbine-electric power, has a 210-ton load capacity, 10 times that of the smaller truck. It weighs 250,000 pounds empty and stands nearly four stories high with its body up. It rides on eight tires 10 and one-half feet in diameter.

2 Trucks Bombed

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Two catering trucks owned by a father and son were damaged within an hour of each other early this morning when explosive devices were thrown at them.

It was the second time in eight days someone had tried to destroy the trucks owned by Charles Crews Sr. of Willoughby, and Charles Crews Jr. of Cleveland.

The first truck, owned by Crews Jr., was parked at the Renner Sohio service station on West 117th St. when a cylinder-type device was thrown at it from a moving car. It landed five feet away, causing minor damage to the truck and blew out several windows at a nearby bowling alley.

An hour later, a car drove by Crews Sr.'s Willoughby home and an occupant inside the car threw what appeared to be a hand grenade which caused extensive damage to the truck, but did not injure anyone.

Booth Crews operate catering firms. Hand grenades had been found on their trucks Aug. 24, but they had been dismantled before they exploded.

Hirohito-Nixon Meeting Slated For 50 Minutes

TOKYO (AP) — President Nixon and Emperor Hirohito will meet for 50 minutes on Sept. 26 when the Japanese monarch's special jetliner stops at Elmendorf Air Force Base, Alaska, en route to Europe, the Imperial Household Agency reported today.

The meeting will be the first ever between a president of the United States and an emperor of Japan.

Nixon announced Aug. 20 that he and Mrs. Nixon would greet Hirohito and Empress Nagako on what would be the first foreign tour by a reigning Japanese monarch.

From Alaska, Hirohito will fly to Denmark. His European trip will also include visits to Belgium, Britain, West Germany, France, the Netherlands and Switzerland.

Alden Scheduled For Testimony On OU Affairs

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Vernon Alden of Boston, Mass., former president of Ohio University, and 29 other persons have been summoned to appear before a special state grand jury opening an investigation Sept. 7 over university business dealings.

Alden is scheduled to appear Sept. 15, but other witnesses will begin their testimony next week. They include Athens and Columbus businessmen.

Among the university officials scheduled to appear are OU President Claude Sowle; John Milar, vice president and treasurer; Martin Hecht, vice president for development; and Paul O'Brien, former secretary of the board of trustees.

The investigation will center around alleged conflict of interest in conduct of OU's business affairs.

The Presbyterian Sunday School has started taking orders for candy and cook books as its latest project. The candy is dollar size boxes with individually wrapped pieces and two Betty Crocker cook books will be offered; an all cookie book and a Bake Off Book with a variety of recipes. Proceeds from this project will go toward the children's Christmas party, helping a needy family and for a record player for the church.

It was also announced that Fisher of Men Awards would be given and they will be given according to attendance and work in the church. As a beginning, each youngster is asked to secure two new members.

cure two new members.

Mrs. Nolan Ross was very pleasantly surprised when the congregation of White Churches presented her with a silver fruit bowl and candle holders Sunday morning after Sunday School in recognition of sixty years as teacher of the kindergarten class. With Mrs. Ross were her two daughters, Mrs. Leslie Clark and her husband and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reshke, all of Canton and Mrs. Roger Chapin, her husband and their sons, Ross and Scott of Columbus. A carry-in dinner with many of her former pupils was held in the nearby school house and among the earliest pupils were Mrs. Thoburn Blaney (Mary Ballentine) and Mr. and Mrs. George Ross of Cincinnati.

Mr. Fred Evans is convalescing at his home after undergoing surgery in Chillicothe Hospital.

Mrs. Carl J. Smith returned home Tuesday afternoon after spending a few days with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Almoney and children at their home in Dayton.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miller of Bridgeport, Conn., are visiting his mother, Mrs. Charles Miller and other relatives here and in Grove City.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Wolfe and son, Tyler last Tuesday night to celebrate Tyler's third birthday were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wolfe, Mr. and Mrs. William Canter and Janet Large, Mrs. Fred Evans and Mr. and Mrs. Dana Evans of Chillicothe.

Among the Kingston students who will attend the Ohio U. Branch at Chillicothe this fall are Brenda Burgoon, Connie Jackson, Shirley Sams, Jan Reisinger, Kim Knapp, Susan Walsh, John Payne. Starting their Senior year at the Ohio U. campus in Athens are Miss Jeanne Beavers and Miss Laurel Handley. The girls are roommates and are both elementary education majors.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Platz have named their son born August 27 in Chillicothe Hospital, Robert Lee. He weight 8 pounds, 5 ounces.

BETTY BROWN HOMEMAKER'S HINT CHARCOAL-GRILLED STEAK

Choose 1, 1½ or 2-inch thick steak for best results. For each person, allow 1 pound of any steak with a bone, such as sirloin, porterhouse, club or T-bone; allow ½ pound of boneless cuts, such as tenderloin. For a small group, select individual steaks if your grill can accommodate all at once; if not order one large, very thick steak so everyone can start eating at the same time.

Trim excess fat from edge of steak; slash remaining fat at 2-inch intervals to prevent curling. Grill steak 4 inches from hot coals suggest time (see chart below). Handle steak with tongs (a fork releases juices). Season with salt and pepper after turning and after removing from grill. Test doneness by making a knife slit alongside bone. Serve steak piping hot.

GRILLING TIME FOR EACH SIDE

	1 inch thick	1½ inches thick	2 inches thick
Rare	4 to 5 minutes	7 to 8 minutes	12 to 13 minutes
Medium	7 to 8 minutes	10 to 12 minutes	15 to 17 minutes

BETTY BROWN HOMEMAKER'S HINT CHARCOAL-GRILLED STEAK

Choose 1, 1½ or 2-inch thick steak for best results. For each person, allow 1 pound of any steak with a bone, such as sirloin, porterhouse, club or T-bone; allow ½ pound of boneless cuts, such as tenderloin. For a small group, select individual steaks if your grill can accommodate all at once; if not order one large, very thick steak so everyone can start eating at the same time.

Trim excess fat from edge of steak; slash remaining fat at 2-inch intervals to prevent curling. Grill steak 4 inches from hot coals suggest time (see chart below). Handle steak with tongs (a fork releases juices). Season with salt and pepper after turning and after removing from grill. Test doneness by making a knife slit alongside bone. Serve steak piping hot.

Five Points News

By Mrs. Francis Furniss

There were 29 present at the United Methodist Sunday School Sunday morning. Worship service followed with 41 present. The Charge conference will be held in the Derby Church on Sunday afternoon Sept. 19 at 2:30 p.m.

Paul and Johnny Ray of Harrisburg were Saturday overnight and Sunday guests of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Davis.

Mrs. Mildred Davis took nineteen pupils who were winners in a contest of Monroe School on a trip and picnic to Ohio Caverns and the Museum at Dayton last Tuesday. Several parents accompanied them. A nice time was had by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene R. Donohoe of near Washington C. H. were hosts at a dinner last Monday evening in their home. The occasion was a farewell for their son Robin who was leaving Tuesday for Eastern Kentucky College and Roger's twenty-first birthday. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. George Donohoe of Atlanta, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Furniss and son Harold, Miss Laura Long, Mrs. Bess Stewart of Columbus and Staff Sgt. and Mrs. Robert E. Olson and children Chucky, Jeanie, Roger and Randy of Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Waterman of Latham and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Margeson and daughter Judy of Columbus were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Waterman. Additional afternoon guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ford and Mr. Andrew Lock.

Mrs. Paul Dawson of Circleville was the Sunday evening luncheon guest of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Furniss.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Frederick and Mrs. Don DeShambo of Columbus were the Wednesday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clark McCafferty and Mr. Edgar Fultz was their Thursday evening guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Jones of Columbus and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jones and children Faith and Bruce of London and Mr. Jim Walls were Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elbee Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene R. Donohoe of near Washington C. H. were Thursday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Furniss.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Grover visited Mr. Grover's brother, Mr. J. A. Grover in Gallipolis Hospital Tuesday.

Mrs. Sue Shaw and family of London were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ray A. Harden Sr. Pammy Shaw remained for a week's visit with her grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Haller spent from Sunday until Wednesday visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Milton Wall and family of Hamilton and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Tedrick and family of Goshen. They were accompanied home by three of their grandchildren, who spent the rest of the week with them. Mr. and Mrs. Dan Tedrick of Goshen spent the week-end with the Hallers and were accompanied home by their children, Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Fuller and children Carl and Charlyn were Tuesday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elba Patch and family of Fairborn and were Friday guests of Mrs. Walter Patch of Jeffersonville.

Word has been received from Rev. and Mrs. I. C. Wright (former pastor of the Derby Five Points charge) that Mrs. Wright had suffered a transitory stroke on Aug. 19th. She had been in a convalescent home for about two years. Mrs. Wright is 88 and Rev. Wright will be 90 in October. Let's remember them with cards of cheer. Address cards to Rev. I. C. Wright, Rt. 1 Box 61, Centerville, Ind. 47330.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Long of Williamsport, Mrs. Gene Long and baby son Paul Eugene of New Jersey, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Morgan and sons Ned and Bruce were Friday evening dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Long and daughter Florence. This was the first visit of their new great grand-

Alaska Leads In Fish Income
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas commercial fishermen were paid a record $53.5 million for their 1970 catch, a 12 per cent increase over the value of their 1969 catch.

son Paul Eugene Long the 3rd of New Jersey.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Morgan, Nancy, Ned and Bruce and Craig Moore were Saturday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Timmons of Williamsport.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Riley and grandchildren Sally and David were Sunday afternoon and evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brill and family of Sedalia.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Fohl of Johnstown were Saturday guests of Mr. Charles Parks and

Mr. and Mrs. Orval Parks and two daughters of Ray, Ohio were his Sunday guests.

Mrs. Edna George of Unionville Center spent from Sunday until Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Finch.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Turner and Mrs. Cecil Davis of Columbus were Tuesday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Finch. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Finch were Friday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Horch of Plain City.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Everman children Tish and Ted spent the week-end camping at Rocky Fork Lake near Hillsboro and on Sunday afternoon visited his grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Everman in Greenfield Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Grabill and Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Frost of Grove City were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Lucy Fausnaugh of near Circleville.

Mrs. Luther A. Ruff Jr. was host at a stork shower Wednesday evening in her home honoring Mrs. John Drummond. Games and contests were enjoyed and a pink and blue color theme was carried out in decorations and refreshments served by the hostess. Guests were Mrs. Miley Drummond, Mrs. Robert Drummond, Mrs. Roger Drummond, Mrs. Edmund Neal, Mrs. Francis Furniss, Miss Laura Long, Mrs. Joretta Brunner and daughters Linda, Nancy and Susan, Mrs. Helga Armbrust, Mrs. Joan Huffman, Mrs. Barbara Stewart, and Mrs. Krista Stystashan. Unable to attend but sending gifts were Mrs. Don Streitenberger and Beverly and Ann Neal.

Mrs. Gertrude F. Ruff of Groveport was the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs.

Luther A. Ruff Jr. and Todd.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hanawalt were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Whaley and family in Cincinnati. The occasion celebrated Rona's fourth birthday.

The sympathy of the community is extended to the family of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Knox in the sudden and unexpected passing of their son, Mike.

Kent State Grand Jury Suit Filed

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A brief to void a ruling dismissing the report of the special state grand jury which investigated violence at Kent State University in May, 1970, has been filed here in the 6th U.S. District Court of Appeals.

The brief was filed by Seabury Ford, a special state attorney appointed to aid in the Kent State investigation.

Ford had appealed six months ago against the dismissal of the 25-page report that was filed along with indictments of 25 persons in connection with the four days of violence that resulted in the May 4 deaths of four students during a confrontation with Ohio National Guardsmen.

Ford's brief, filed Monday, is in line with appellate court procedure. The court will now decide whether a hearing will be set.

U.S. District Court Judge William K. Thomas of Cleveland ruled Jan. 28 that the report should be erased, claiming the grand jury assumed an illegal role in the report as a "careful trier of fact" instead of an "accuser of crime." He permitted the indictments to stand.

Thomas ordered Lucy S. DeLeon, clerk of courts of Portage County, to "physically expunge and destroy" the grand

Hearing Scheduled On Bank Robbery

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A hearing was scheduled before a U. S. magistrate today for Harry Williams Jr., 30, who was arrested here by FBI agents

Tuesday on bank robbery and fugitive warrants.

The FBI said Williams escaped last September from the federal prison at Terre Haute, Ind., where he was serving a term for a 1964 bank robbery, and is accused of holding up a bank in Sherman Oaks, Calif., last November.

Voters Reject Countywide Transit System

CINCINNATI (AP)—A proposed .5 mill property tax, aimed at improving bus service in Hamilton County and bringing it under public ownership has been rejected by nearly 30,000 voters.

With all 1,159 county precincts reporting, the levy was defeated unofficially by 73,309 votes to 44,266 in a special election Tuesday. A total of 117,571 of 370,745 eligible voters went to the polls.

Passage of the levy would have given the Southwest Ohio Regional Transit Authority, an arm of the Hamilton County Commissioners, funds to purchase the Cincinnati Transit Co. and other transit systems in the area for public ownership and for money to operate an expanded and improved bus system.

The levy would have run for 10 years and generated about $10 million.

Joseph L. Osberger, SORTA president, said that "it is apparent that conditions in public transportation have not reached a serious enough level nor has the automobile traffic situation become so unbearable that the people see the need for drastic action such as SORTA's."

A three-way agreement reached among the city, SORTA and the transit company in June said that bus service would be reduced 11.3 per cent beginning the Sunday after the levy vote in the event the levy was turned down. The agreement also called for a probable hike in adult cash fares from 45 to 50 cents.

Failure of the levy means that the transit company will continue to be operated as a private enterprise under a franchise with the city.

As far as the agreement goes, Cincinnati Mayor Willis Gradison Jr. said that he intends to ask the city solicitor to take "necessary steps" to assure that the transit fares and service are stabilized under provisions of President Nixon's 90-day freeze on wages and price.

"This should provide additional time in which the city and the transit company can explore steps for dealing with our transit emergency," Gradison said, referring to the fact that the firm has been forced to cut back service and hike fares because of financial problems.

Insurance Suit Filed

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—A $10 million damage suit has been filed in Erie County Common Pleas Court here, alleging that the Columbia National Life Insurance Co. based in Columbus sold life insurance policies through fraudulent representation.

The class action suit filed by the Murray & Murray law firm alleges that Columbia policyholders were induced to enter into life insurance contracts by agents who "held themselves out as investment counselors and at no time stated they were insurance salesmen."

Ray C. Gilbert, Columbus president, would not comment on the suit. He said the agent serving the Sandusky area was Dwight Knipp, a regional representative of the company who lives in Lindsey in nearby Sandusky County.

Gilbert said Knipp was basically an "independent contractor" for the company. Knipp, who has an office in Fremont, also refused comment.

In addition to the $10 million sought in punitive damages the suit also asked the court to negate all life insurance contracts entered into by all parties to the suit and order Columbia to refund all money invested plus 9 per cent interest.

Kent State Grand Jury Suit Filed

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A brief to void a ruling dismissing the report of the special state grand jury which investigated violence at Kent State University in May, 1970, has been filed here in the 6th U.S. District Court of Appeals.

The brief was filed by Seabury Ford, a special state attorney appointed to aid in the Kent State investigation.

Ford had appealed six months ago against the dismissal of the 25-page report that was filed along with indictments of 25 persons in connection with the four days of violence that resulted in the May 4 deaths of four students during a confrontation with Ohio National Guardsmen.

Ford's brief, filed Monday, is in line with appellate court procedure. The court will now decide whether a hearing will be set.

U.S. District Court Judge William K. Thomas of Cleveland ruled Jan. 28 that the report should be erased, claiming the grand jury assumed an illegal role in the report as a "careful trier of fact" instead of an "accuser of crime." He permitted the indictments to stand.

Thomas ordered Lucy S. DeLeone, clerk of courts of Portage County, to "physically expunge and destroy" the grand

Tuesday on bank robbery and fugitive warrants.

The FBI said Williams escaped last September from the federal prison at Terre Haute, Ind., where he was serving a term for a 1964 bank robbery, and is accused of holding up a bank in Sherman Oaks, Calif., last November.

Voters Reject Countywide Transit System

CINCINNATI (AP)—A proposed .5 mill property tax, aimed at improving bus service in Hamilton County and bringing it under public ownership has been rejected by nearly 30,000 voters.

With all 1,159 county precincts reporting, the levy was defeated unofficially by 73,309 votes to 44,286 in a special election Tuesday. A total of 117,571 of 370,745 eligible voters went to the polls.

Passage of the levy would have given the Southwest Ohio Regional Transit Authority, an arm of the Hamilton County Commissioners, funds to purchase the Cincinnati Transit Co. and other transit systems in the area for public ownership and for money to operate an expanded and improved bus system.

The levy would have run for 10 years and generated about $10 million.

Joseph L. Osberger, SORTA president, said that "it is apparent that conditions in public transportation have not reached a serious enough level nor has the automobile traffic situation become so unbearable that the people see the need for drastic action such as SORTA's."

A three-way agreement reached among the city, SORTA and the transit company in June said that bus service would be reduced 11.3 per cent beginning the Sunday after the levy vote in the event the levy was turned down. The agreement also called for a probable hike in adult cash fares from 45 to 50 cents.

Failure of the levy means that the transit company will continue to be operated as a private enterprise under a franchise with the city.

As far as the agreement goes, Cincinnati Mayor Willis Gradison Jr. said that he intends to ask the city solicitor to take "necessary steps" to assure that the transit fares and service are stabilized under provisions of President Nixon's 90-day freeze on wages and price.

"This should provide additional time in which the city and the transit company can explore steps for dealing with our transit emergency," Gradison said, referring to the fact that the firm has been forced to cut back service and hike fares because of financial problems.

Insurance Suit Filed

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—A $10 million damage suit has been filed in Erie County Common Pleas Court here, alleging that the Columbia National Life Insurance Co. based in Columbus sold life insurance policies through fraudulent representation.

The class action suit filed by the Murray & Murray law firm alleges that Columbia policyholders were induced to enter into life insurance contracts by agents who "held themselves out as investment counselors and at no time stated they were insurance salesmen."

Ray C. Gilbert, Columbia president, would not comment on the suit. He said the agent serving the Sandusky area was Dwight Knipp, a regional representative of the company who lives in Lindsey in nearby Sandusky County.

Gilbert said Knipp was basically an "independent contractor" for the company. Knipp, who has an office in Fremont, also refused comment.

In addition to the $10 million sought in punitive damages the suit also asked the court to negate all life insurance contracts entered into by all parties to the suit and order Columbia to refund all money invested plus 6 per cent interest.

THURSDAY'S HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A beautiful day and evening to get in touch with advanced persons who can suggest the right methods to help make your dreams come true. You then can have a more satisfactory existence by streamlining your activities so that they bring the results you desire.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Good suggestions from friends can help you be successful in both business and personal relationships. You need to get out more socially. Avoid a general tendency to spurge, be wise.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Getting into a civic duty can be helpful to you in business as well as with the public in general. If you become an expert in your field, you will gain more respect. Let your desires be sensible.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Your intuitive hunches can lead you to the right path now. You can obtain the data you need from others. Plan a trip you have long wanted to take. This could lead to excellent results.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can get bills paid easily today, and feel much better thereby. By cooperating with mate and friends, fine benefits come your way. Think and act constructively.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) If you try to understand associates better new doors of opportunity will open for you. Engage in a public work that brings excitement and satisfaction as well. Avoid trouble of all kinds.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) With all that work ahead of you, using a new system could be helpful at this time. Cooperate more with co-workers and get much accomplished. You can now improve your own efficiency considerably.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A new plan will help considerably to make your life easier and more satisfying. Get into more creative work. Put those talents to work where recreation is concerned. Show that you have wisdom.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Use tact at home where kin are in a bad mood and arguments could flare up. Find the right appliances which can perk up your home. Entertain at home in the evening instead of going out.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Plan what to do to get on the good side of an associate today. A new plan makes you feel very much alert. Show that you are a very capable person. Relax with mate in the evening.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Find ways and means to have greater income whether through repairs to property, an extra job or whatever. Study monetary periodicals for good ideas. Stop feeling so hopeless.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Contact good friends and show how devoted you are and like their company, since you have been too busy to do that for some time. Attend the social tonight and express your ambitions.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Make a good plan and then rely on your intuition to make it work like a charm. Come to the right decisions and you succeed. You have good advisors. Impress them with your ability.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those charming young people with many novel ideas and the ability to put them across. You must teach early to do favors for others since the greatest success here comes from serving the public. This is good grounding for such a career. Allow your youngster to make changes around the house which are good and gives a sense of belonging. Send to college if possible. Give fine religious upbringing.

Pipe Firms Are Named In Lawsuit

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — An asbestos-cement pipe sales representative has filed a statewide multimillion-dollar price fixing suit against eight cast iron pipe manufacturers.

Merle McCollum, through his attorney, state Sen. Gene Stipe, filed a suit Monday alleging cast iron pipe has been sold to Oklahoma governmental agencies since 1945 at a non-competitive price fixed by a conspiracy of eight companies.

Stipe said, "$100 million would be a reasonable ballpark figure for the damages, but the figure might well run higher."

The suit alleges the companies used improper means to influence officials and to maintain a monopoly.

The suit charges, "the defendants . . . employed improper means to induce governmental users of pipe to specify cast iron pipe to the exclusion of competitive products."

Named as defendants are American Cast Iron Pipe Co., Birmingham, Ala.; Amstead Industries, Inc., Chicago; Clow Corp., Oakbrook, Ill.; Glamorgan Pipe and Foundry Co., Lynchburg, Va.; Lone Star Steel Co., Dallas, Tex.; McWane Cast Iron Pipe Co., Birmingham, Ala.; Mead Corp., Dayton, Ohio; United States Pipe and Foundry Co., Birmingham, Ala.; a subsidiary of Aim Walter Corporation of Florida; and Cast Iron Pipe Research Association, an Illinois not-for-profit corporation composed of cast iron pipe manufacturers.

Studies show that cool cows are more contented and give more milk than those housed in stuffy barns.

During a visit to the South

TREASURE HUNT — The children's treasure hunt was one of the most popular events during four picnics for Du Pont employees and their families at Gold Cliff Park last week. The picnics were attended by over 3,500 persons. Chicken, ham, wieners, potato salad, baked beans, rolls, potato chips, pickles, coffee, soft drinks and ice cream were on the menu. Games and sports for all age groups were held.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWERY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Raymond Burr soon will start his fifth season playing a crusty San Francisco police detective named Ironside. The off-camera Burr, however, is involved in work for the handicapped, running a South Seas island, and raising orchids.

An active man whose enthusiasms are as large as his physical frame, Burr has also found a new cause, one which has emerged logically from his experiences in the role of a man permanently paralyzed from the waist down by a killer's bullet.

"The handicapped are one of the biggest minorities in this country," he said. "We're trying to call attention to some of their special problems. We're agitating for changes in building codes so that doors will be built wide enough for wheel chairs. Right now it is almost impossible for the handicapped to get chairs into telephone booths, polling booths or even to use a public toilet."

"We have some local legislation started to widen entrances to public buildings. We're campaigning for ramps instead of curbs at cross walks. We think there should be at least a percentage of rooms in apartment houses and hotels built so people in wheel chairs can get around without help."

The actor's knowledge of the day-by-day problems of the crippled has been accumulated over "Ironside's" run on NBC. Since the handicapped identify with the heroic detective Burr is careful that the capabilities of this man who has lost the use of his legs are never exaggerated.

When there is any question, it is referred to one of the program consultants, a paraplegic in his 50s who tests the scene. If he can go through it, it stays in the show. If not, it is rewritten.

Burr works hard at his craft and pursues his many outside interests with the same concentration.

During a visit to the South

Seas, he was so impressed he bought a whole island in the Fijis, complete with copra plantation, thus becoming grand seigneur and beneficent landlord to its population of more than 100. He spends a couple of months a year there now and expects eventually to make it his home half of the year.

His original amateur interest in orchids has expanded into a commercial operation. He works with thousands of seedlings, and keeps meticulous records of cross-breeding experiments to find new forms, shapes and unusual colors. He thinks he has bred a pure blue orchid of commercial quality—a horticulturalist's dream, but since it takes each plant seven years from seed to flower, he will remain in suspense until 1975.

Dock Union 'Exception' To Freeze?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — There won't be an end to the two-month-old longshoremen's strike unless President Nixon allows a pact with wage increases to take effect, says Harry Bridges, longshoremen president.

"When the job is done, we'll go to the President or the appropriate agency and ask for approval of our contract," Bridges said Monday. "Unless the agency says OK, the ships will stay where they are."

Bridges told a convention of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America that the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union considers itself an exception to any wage-price freeze ordered by Nixon.

"We've just come out of two five-year contracts and during that time all this inflation has been going on," he said. "We've told our people they can negotiate for wages."

In Columbus, Ohio, the Nixon administration termed selfish labor unions that oppose the wage freeze, singing out the longshoremen.

Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin said "the recalcitrance of some labor officials, such as those who defy the President and dictate that the West Coast dock strike will continue, are examples of the lack of leadership America can ill afford at this hour."

Urge Mid-River State Border In Federal Suit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State of Ohio is seeking to extend its territorial claim southward to the center of the Ohio River.

The action comes in an amendment to a 1965 Ohio suit before the U.S. Supreme Court challenging Kentucky's ownership of the river.

Action on the request, filed Monday, will take from three to five months, George Jenkins, chief counsel to Atty. Gen. William Brown, said. No date has been set for final disposition of the case, itself.

Ohio's southern boundary was established in 1763 as the high water mark on the Ohio side of the river, under an Indian treaty with the British. The original suit before the Supreme Court sought to establish the border at the low water mark.

Many people buy spring water because they dislike the taste of tap water, especially in mixed drinks.

TREASURE HUNT — The children's treasure hunt was one of the most popular events during four picnics for Du Pont employees and their families at Gold Cliff Park last week. The picnics were attended by over 3,500 persons. Chicken, ham, wieners, potato salad, baked beans, rolls, potato chips, pickles, coffee, soft drinks and ice cream were on the menu. Games and sports for all age groups were held.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Raymond Burr soon will start his fifth season playing a crusty San Francisco police detective named Ironside. The off-camera Burr, however, is involved in work for the handicapped, running a South Seas island, and raising orchids.

An active man whose enthusiasms are as large as his physical frame, Burr has also found a new cause, one which has emerged logically from his experiences in the role of a man permanently paralyzed from the waist down by a killer's bullet.

"The handicapped are one of the biggest minorities in this country," he said. "We're trying to call attention to some of their special problems. We're agitating for changes in building codes so that doors will be built wide enough for wheel chairs. Right now it is almost impossible for the handicapped to get chairs into telephone booths, polling booths or even to use a public toilet."

"We have some local legislation started to widen entrances to public buildings. We're campaigning for ramps instead of curbs at cross walks. We think there should be at least a percentage of rooms in apartment houses and hotels built so people in wheel chairs can get around without help."

The actor's knowledge of the day-by-day problems of the crippled has been accumulated over "Ironside's" run on NBC. Since the handicapped identify with the heroic detective Burr is careful that the capabilities of this man who has lost the use of his legs are never exaggerated.

When there is any question, it is referred to one of the program consultants, a paraplegic in his 50s who tests the scene. If he can go through it, it stays in the show. If not, it is rewritten.

Burr works hard at his craft and pursues his many outside interests with the same concentration.

During a visit to the South

Seas, he was so impressed he bought a whole island in the Fijis, complete with copra plantation, thus becoming grand seigneur and beneficent landlord to its population of more than 100. He spends a couple of months a year there now and expects eventually to make it his home half of the year.

His original amateur interest in orchids has expanded into a commercial operation. He works with thousands of seedlings, and keeps meticulous records of cross-breeding experiments to find new forms, shapes and unusual colors. He thinks he has bred a pure blue orchid of commercial quality—a horticulturalist's dream, but since it takes each plant seven years from seed to flower, he will remain in suspense until 1975.

Dock Union 'Exception' To Freeze?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — There won't be an end to the two-month-old longshoremen's strike unless President Nixon allows a pact with wage increases to take effect, says Harry Bridges, longshoremen president.

"When the job is done, we'll go to the President or the appropriate agency and ask for approval of our contract," Bridges said Monday. "Unless the agency says OK, the ships will stay where they are."

Bridges told a convention of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America that the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union considers itself an exception to any wage-price freeze ordered by Nixon.

"We've just come out of two five-year contracts and during that time all this inflation has been going on," he said. "We've told our people they can negotiate for wages."

In Columbus, Ohio, the Nixon administration termed selfish labor unions that oppose the wage freeze, singling out the longshoremen.

Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin said "the recalcitrance of some labor officials, such as those who defy the President and dictate that the West Coast dock strike will continue, are examples of the lack of leadership America can afford at this hour."

Urge Mid-River State Border In Federal Suit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State of Ohio is seeking to extend its territorial claim southward to the center of the Ohio River.

The action comes in an amendment to a 1965 Ohio suit before the U.S. Supreme Court challenging Kentucky's ownership of the river.

Action on the request, filed Monday, will take from three to five months, George Jenkins, chief counsel to Atty. Gen. William Brown, said. No date has been set for final disposition of the case, itself.

Ohio's southern boundary was established in 1763 as the high water mark on the Ohio side of the river, under an Indian treaty with the British. The original suit before the Supreme Court sought to establish the border at the low water mark.

Many people buy spring water because they dislike the taste of tap water, especially in mixed drinks.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first outline of President Nixon's post-freeze economic program will be sketched by the end of September, but it may be weeks later before it takes final form.

A task force headed by Herb Stein, a member of Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers, will be ready by the end of the month with recommendations on what should follow the freeze, administration officials said. The recommendations will then be submitted to the Cost of Living Council.

The council, headed by Treasury Secretary John B. Connally and including top administration economists, will shape the recommendations for President Nixon.

Other than to say the wage-price program after the freeze must contain some form of control, administration officials have carefully avoided details of what will result.

"It's too early now to pre-judge what Phase 2 will be," Dr. Paul McCracken, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, told a Senate-House Economic Committee Monday. He said it would be a "little less severe than the freeze we have at the present time," but "it will have to be something with some clout."

Nixon's 90-day freeze on wages, prices and rents, announced Aug. 15 expires Nov. 13.

"We will have to find the intermediate ground where the pricing system can function," McCracken said.

But he refused to be pinned down on what is under consideration, saying only that a wage-price review board with some legal powers is one, but not necessarily the only, possibility.

As a result of Nixon's economic package, McCracken said, a half-million jobs will be created and gross national product-output of the nation's goods and services will increase an additional $15 billion in noninflated dollars next year.

But Rep. Wright Patman, chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee, said the wage-price freeze will accomplish little in its 90 days.

"I think it is entirely too short," Patman said at a news conference in Las Vegas, Nev. "I was disappointed because it was less than six months."

The Texas Democrat said rising interest rates are the basic cause of inflation. He said he was disappointed Nixon failed to use power to freeze interest rates.

In other developments related to Nixon's economic program:

—The 525,000-member American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees said in Minneapolis the program is "merely a retreat of the old." The union demanded public workers either be exempted from the freeze or considered separately.

—The dollar, cut loose from its tie with gold and floating on foreign currency markets, put on a mixed performance. It lost slightly in relation to the Japanese yen but was stronger in West Germany and Switzerland Monday. On the two-tier market in France, it changed little on the free market but lost in value on the official market.

McCracken, meantime, said he hoped the present international monetary system can be maintained if more flexibility is built into the system and if the dollar realignment is satisfactory. He said he was satisfied.

Gilligan Asks Federal Job Safety Help

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John Gilligan has asked the federal government to take over enforcement of industrial safety programs now under the jurisdiction of the state Industrial Commission.

Gilligan said he has concluded that the commission "appears unwilling to operate an effective program to protect . . . Ohio's working men and women."

At issue is enforcement of the new Federal Occupational Safety and Health Act.

"Millions of dollars which should be spent to keep Ohio workers safe on their jobs are lying in the workmen's compensation fund," the governor said in a letter Monday to U.S. Labor Secretary James Hodgson.

He asked that the Labor Department assume responsibility for enforcing the law "at least until I am convinced that the Industrial Commission is ready and willing to do properly the job it is charged with doing—making Ohio workmen safe."

The Industrial Commission consists of three members—M. Holland Krise, Llewellyn Coles and John Sheehan, all appointees carried over from the administration of former Gov. James Rhodes.

fied with the dollar's performance in world markets.

High-ranking U.S. officials cautioned foreign governments against retaliatory trade curbs as a result of Nixon's 10 per cent temporary import surcharge and floating of the dollar. Trade curbs would boom-erang and escalate the current crisis, they said.

The cost of Living Council continued to crank out new policy rulings in administering the 90-day freeze, holding that alimony and child-support payments may increase during the freeze but postal rates may not. The Office of Emergency Preparedness announced that seven more exemptions from the freeze have been denied, bringing the total of denials to 14.

The government also supplied additional reasons why Nixon charted a new economic course for the nation. The Labor Department added eight more major labor areas to its list of cities with unemployment of six per cent or more. They are Boston, Philadelphia, Fort Worth, Tex., Dayton, Ohio, Shreveport, La., Charleston, S.C., Hazleton-Wilkes-Barre Pa., and the Davenport-Rock Island-Moline area of Illinois and Iowa.

Thieu Supporters Drop In Assembly

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu still controls the National Assembly, but his diminished majority in the lower house augurs a new era of political activism in the South Vietnamese legislature. Two-thirds of the incumbent deputies were denied re-election Sunday by a heavy turnout of voters, reflecting public dissatisfaction with their image as rubber stamps for Thieu's policies.

Restraint With Legal Clout Seen After Economic Freeze

The Circleville Herald, Wed. Sept. 1, 1971 15

JACK AND THE BEANSTALK? — No, it's O. D. Morris looking at his 14-footer near Marietta, Ohio. His lima bean plant took hold on a sunflower—which he says a blue jay planted—and they both shot up 14 feet.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Give Her A Raise, Not More Kisses

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been acting funny for the last few months, so I finally worried out of him what was bothering him. Willie said it all started when he gave his bookkeeper a few kisses because he couldn't afford to give her a raise.

Willie says now she isn't satisfied with a few kisses, and she's after him to meet her someplace. He swears he doesn't want to get involved with her, and I believe him because she is pushing 60 and still an old maid.

Willie says he can't let her go because she's an excellent bookkeeper and he couldn't run his business without her. How should this be handled?

WILLIE'S WIFE: DEAR WIFE: Tell Willie the cheapest solution would be to give the woman a raise.

DEAR ABBY: What does it mean when a person puts a stamp upside-down on an envelope?

DELAWARE: DEAR DELAWARE: It could mean, "I love you," "I'm in a hurry," or "I need glasses."

DEAR ABBY: Seeing as how I was new in town, I stopped a nice-looking man on the street and asked him for directions.

Prison Training Said No Help

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) — A poll of about 15 per cent of the approximately 1,000 inmates at the Chillicothe Correctional Institution has shown that 80 per cent of the inmates do not think the state provides meaningful job training in prison.

That's one of the findings in the survey made recently at the institution by inmate Lou Torok. He also said his poll showed that 80 per cent of those queried thought the state should provide the training.

Earlier, Torok also reported that 60 per cent of the inmates interviewed said they would think twice about committing a crime if they could earn a living wage.

Sudan To Join Arab Coalition

Sadat Praises Expected Action

CAIRO (AP) — President Anwar Sadat says Sudan will soon join the Arab federation of Egypt, Libya and Syria, strengthening Egypt on the south in any new war with Israel.

Sadat said Monday the federation is necessary for victory over Israel and will check the increasing Arab disunity.

"Out of defeat we will draw victory," Sadat said in a nationwide radio and television address to whip up enthusiasm for a referendum Wednesday on the federation. "The Arab nation will never die. After the federation comes into being, we will be one and we will have started on the right road."

The federation is expected to be approved overwhelmingly in the referendum Wednesday in Egypt, Libya and Syria.

President Hafez Assad of Syria said in a broadcast from Damascus the new group is committed never to negotiate peace with Israel, abandon Arab territory or give up the rights of the Palestinians.

Prime Minister Wasfi Tell of Jordan indirectly confirmed his government recently received arms from the United States but denied a statement by Sadat that they are for use against Syria. Jordan and Syria have been involved in border clashes recently.

In other developments: The Israeli army said its troops killed an Arab guerrilla in a clash in the occupied Gaza Strip, and wounded another Arab there during curfew hours when he ignored warning shots and orders to halt and identify himself.

The army also said its anti-aircraft batteries fired at Egyptian warplanes that flew over Israeli fortifications along the Suez Canal Monday, but no hits were reported. It was the second Egyptian overflight in as many days.

FBI Nabs Man, Frees Hostages

MIAMI (AP) — The FBI rescued a bank president and his wife unharmed Monday when a gunman who had demanded $100,000 surrendered after a 30-mile auto chase.

Agents said that after the car carrying Mr. and Mrs. Paul Losner of Homestead and Dennis Clyde Bennett, 26, was followed by a dozen FBI cars and a helicopter Bennett gave up without a fight. Agents said charges would be filed against Bennett today.

After the incident ended, Losner said he would gladly have paid $100,000 ransom for his wife if it had been necessary. "I wanted Bea. After 26 years of married life she was well worth $100,000," the 57-year-old Losner said.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Marsha Lyons said Bennett and an alleged accomplice, 19-year old Wayne Story of Montreal, Canada, were to be arraigned today on federal charges of assault or kidnapping to commit bank robbery.

Story was arrested at a lounge shortly after the Losners were freed by agents. Both Story and Bennett were held under $200,000 bonds.

DAY IN DAY OUT - DAY IN DAY

Equitable Daily Interest

What it Means to you:

IT MEANS:

SAVE when you want to . . .

WITHDRAW when you want to . . .

And NEVER lose interest on passbook savings

DAY IN: YOU CAN DEPOSIT MONEY IN AN EQUITABLE FEDERAL PASSBOOK ACCOUNT ANY DAY OF THE MONTH, AND YOU START EARNING INTEREST THE SAME DAY

We've tossed out the OLD FASHIONED save-by-the-10th idea — which meant that you had to save by the 10th of the month in order to earn any interest that month. Equitable Federal realizes that you don't always have money to save at the beginning of the month — so we've made it possible for you to save according to your own financial schedule without ever losing interest.

DAY OUT: YOU ALSO MAY WITHDRAW MONEY FROM YOUR PASSBOOK ACCOUNT AT ANY TIME, AND EQUITABLE FEDERAL PAYS YOU INTEREST RIGHT UP TO THE DAY OF WITHDRAWAL.

Under the "Old Way" you waited until the end of the quarter to withdraw any money, because otherwise you earned no interest on those dollars. Interest was paid only on the money on deposit at interest distribution dates. Many financial institutions still follow this method. But at Equitable Federal, you don't have to wait. You can withdraw your savings — and earn full interest for every day we have your money.

YOU'LL EARN INTEREST FOR FIVE EXTRA DAYS EVERY YEAR.

Our computer figures the interest due you every day (365 days a year) . . . makes the necessary changes when you deposit or withdraw . . . stores all this information . . . and at the end of the quarter, prints the amount due you on your account record. At most other financial institutions you'll earn interest for only 360 days per year.

Equitable Federal distributes interest payments at the end of each calendar quarter — March 31, June 30, September 30 and December 31.

EXAMPLES OF HOW YOU EARN MORE UNDER OUR DAY-IN/DAY-OUT PLAN

- Saving from your second paycheck of the month, you deposit money on the 16th.
OUR DAY-IN/DAY-OUT PLAN — You will start earning interest on the 16th.
THE OLD-FASHIONED WAY — You earn Nothing until the 1st of the next month.
- To pay a school tuition bill, you take money out on September 10th (between quarterly interest dates).
OUR DAY-IN/DAY-OUT PLAN — You earn interest on that money right up to September 10th.

THE OLD-FASHIONED WAY — You lose all interest for that quarter on the money you withdraw.

- You add to your account one day, with every expectation of leaving your addition on deposit. The very next day, a family emergency forces you to withdraw it.
OUR DAY-IN/DAY-OUT PLAN — You earn interest for the single day your money is on deposit with us.
THE OLD-FASHIONED WAY — You earn no interest on such short-term deposits.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Give Her A Raise, Not More Kisses

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been acting funny for the last few months, so I finally wormed out of him what was bothering him. Willie said it all started when he gave his bookkeeper a few kisses because he couldn't afford to give her a raise.

Willie says now she isn't satisfied with a few kisses, and she's after him to meet her someplace. He swears he doesn't want to get involved with her, and I believe him because she is pushing 60 and still an old maid.

Willie says he can't let her go because she's an excellent bookkeeper and he couldn't run his business without her. How should this be handled?

WILLIE'S WIFE:
DEAR WIFE: Tell Willie the cheapest solution would be to give the woman a raise.

DEAR ABBY: What does it mean when a person puts a stamp upside-down on an envelope?

DELAWARE: It could mean, "I love you," "I'm in a hurry," or "I need glasses."

DEAR ABBY: Seeing as how I was new in town, I stopped a nice-looking man on the street and asked him for directions.

Prison Training Said No Help

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) — A poll of about 15 per cent of the approximately 1,000 inmates at the Chillicothe Correctional Institution has shown that 80 per cent of the inmates do not think the state provides meaningful job training in prison.

That's one of the findings in the survey made recently at the institution by inmate Lou Torok. He also said his poll showed that 80 per cent of those queried thought the state should provide the training.

Earlier, Torok also reported that 60 per cent of the inmates interviewed said they would think twice about committing a crime if they could earn a living wage.

Egyptians soaked the walls of their homes with water to keep their homes cool.

He said it wasn't far and since he was going that way he would walk me there. Before we parted he asked me if he could see me again and I said yes.

To make a long story short, George and I started going together, and now, six months later we are very much in love, and have even talked about marriage some time in the future.

Abby, George never talks about his parents, his life or anything to do with his past. He says he has no living relatives. No parents, no sisters or brothers. He doesn't talk about his job either. He just says he "sells" for a living.

I am 28 and have never been married. George says he is 32 and has never been married either. He has been to my flat but I have never been to his. (I don't even know where he lives!)

Is it possible that he has no living relatives?

WONDERING:
DEAR WONDERING: Possible, but not probable. Before you invest more time in this mysterious character, find out what it is he "sells" and for whom. Then check up on him. I have a hunch it's a line you don't need.

DEAR ABBY: Shall we write "finis" to the foolish squabble about whether a "PhD" should use his title with this amusing story.

The late Stephen Leacock had just received his PhD in economics and being quite proud of his new title, listed himself as "Dr. Leacock" on the passenger list of the ship on which he sailed for England.

One morning, the steward burst into Leacock's cabin and said, "Dr. Leacock, come quickly, there's been an accident!" Leacock was about to explain that he wasn't a medical doctor when the steward added, "A beautiful young lady passenger fell and hurt her hip."

Leacock thought that since he had had some first aid training, he would try to help the lady—and perhaps get to know her better, so he rushed to the injured lady, but alas, he was too late. Two Doctors of Divinity and an Optometrist got there ahead of him.

Egypt, Syria And Libya Vote On New Federation

CAIRO (AP) — Twelve million voters were expected at the polls today in Egypt, Libya and Syria to endorse the union of the three countries in a new Federation of Arab republics.

There were no signs that new federation would tip the present balance of power in the Middle East and enable the Arab states to carry out their threats of another showdown with Israel.

But the federation's basic principles and its constitution were virtually certain of an overwhelming affirmative vote in the nine-hour referendum. Once the outcome is announced in the three countries tonight, the federation comes into existence formally.

Its creators—President Anwar Sadat of Egypt, President Hafez Assad of Syria and the Libyan leader, Col. Muammar Kadhafi—have gone out of their way in recent speeches to stress that the new federation is "essential for victory" against Israel.

They portray the union as a giant Middle East state with a population of 43 million and an area of one million square miles. They claim it musters the necessary political pull and military power to recover the Arab territories lost in the 1967 war.

The two documents submitted to the voters in today's referendum did little to bear out the leaders' statements which seemed designed mainly to whip up enthusiasm that would bring out the vote.

There is provision for a joint military command that eventually will take charge of training and military operations in the three countries. But other Arab nations have been joining Egypt in unified military commands for years with little or no unity of action resulting.

The union's fundamental principles give the federal state the power of decision over war or peace and pledge it never to negotiate peace with Israel, abandon one inch of occupied Arab land or give up the rights of the Palestinians.

Its constitution, however, preserves the sovereign right of each member country to negotiate and conclude separate treaties or agreements with foreign nations. Egypt therefore remains free to pursue its 14-month-old efforts to reach a peaceful settlement with Israel.

The most eloquent evidence of doubt about the federation's intention or ability to take on Israel is the silence of the Palestinian guerrillas on the union.

The new federation represents the third such attempt at Arab unity since World War II. The two previous unions—a one-year federation between Jordan and Iraq and a 44-month merger of Egypt and Syria under the late Gamal Abdel Nasser—were ended by army coups in 1958 and 1962.

Man Released; In Workhouse Due To Poverty

CLEVELAND, Ohio (A) — A 29-year-old Cleveland man has been released from the Warrensville Workhouse after spending nine days there because he was unable to put up $100 bond for two traffic violations in Shaker Heights.

The man, Hamp Ledbetter, pleaded guilty Tuesday in the courtroom of municipal court judge Manuel Rocker to charges of using fictitious license plates and driving without a license.

Ledbetter had been arrested Aug. 23, and then taken to the workhouse because he said he couldn't afford the bond.

Rocker said he was "somewhat shocked" about learning of Ledbetter's time in the workhouse. He said he has informed his clerk that from now on anyone who cannot make bond should be brought to his court the day after his arrest and not be made to wait for traffic court which is held just once every two weeks.

Pair Guilty Of Arson At Lebanon

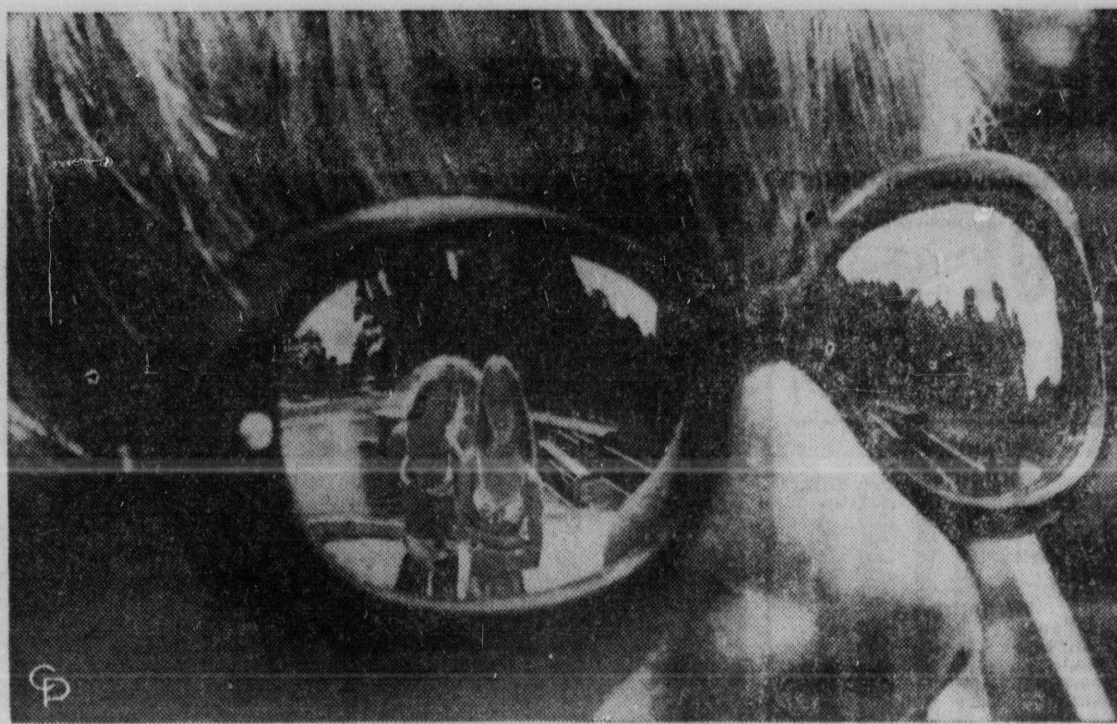

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — A former fireman and a former policeman at Lebanon will be sentenced Sept. 15 on one charge each stemming from arson attempts on unoccupied buildings in the area.

William Himes, who was a fireman, and his brother, Robert Himes who was a policeman, pleaded guilty to one charge respectively Tuesday in Warren County Common Pleas Court.

William Himes entered the plea on a charge of burning or attempting to burn a vacant barn. His brother pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of malicious destruction of property with value in excess of $100.

Along with former Lebanon fireman Thomas Burke, the two were indicted on multiple charges earlier this year by the Warren County grand jury in connection with arson attempts on vacant buildings from 1968 through 1970. Burke pleaded guilty recently to a reduced charge of attempting to burn property, and was placed on five-year probation.

Other indictments against the three were dropped but following the pleas Tuesday, Warren County Prosecutor James Rupert said he planned to present evidence to the October term of the grand jury and request indictments of one or more different people. When the former uniformed employees were arrested, some other people were implicated in the case.

Alleged Kidnaper Captured By FBI

PETROS, Tenn. (AP) — James Allen Byrd, one of two men said to have kidnapped two persons during an escape in June from Brushy Mountain State Prison here has been recaptured by the FBI.

Byrd, 27, was picked up by agents Tuesday in New York said he joined the Army after his escape and was in uniform at the time of his arrest.

Byrd was taken to a federal detention center in New York where he was being held in lieu of $100,000 bond.

The Dayton, Tenn., native and John Wayne Vest, 21, of Greenville, Miss., fled from Brushy Mountain June 13.

Prison officials said Byrd and Vest forced guard Hershel Jones, at knifepoint, to drive them from Petros in Jones' truck.

The truck broke down in Bowling Green, Ohio, and Jones was released unharmed.

The FBI said Byrd and Vest then kidnapped an Ohio man and forced him to drive them to New York City, where he also was released unharmed.

Vest was recaptured July 15 in Greenville, at the home of his father.

FBI agents said Byrd enlisted in the Army under the name of John W. Moran, and had been stationed at Ft. Dix, N.J.

Rocker said he was "somewhat shocked" about learning of Ledbetter's time in the workhouse. He said he has informed his clerk that from now on anyone who cannot make bond should be brought to his court the day after his arrest and not be made to wait for traffic court which is held just once every two weeks.

Simpson Pitching Aids Reds In 2-1 Win Over San Diego

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati right-hander Wayne Simpson made the most out of his first attempt Tuesday night as a "seven inning starter."
Simpson, in probably his best outing of the year, mowed San Diego down on four hits and no runs through seven innings and the Reds eventually nipped the Padres 2-1.
"We had determined that seven innings was the limit for Wayne for the rest of the year because he had been tiring around the fifth inning," said Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson. "Sure, he's getting stronger, but we don't want him to hold back. I wanted to see Wayne win. I was disappointed that he didn't, but I'm satisfied with his progress and he'll get better."

Chamblis, the Tribe's top draft choice in 1970 after playing college ball at UCLA, tagged Niekro for a three-run homer in the fourth inning to power the Indians to a 6-3 triumph over Detroit after the Tigers had taken the first one 6-1.

Torre's St. Louis Cardinals were locked in a 1-1 tie with the New York Mets Tuesday night—Torre singled home a first-inning run and took over the major league RBI lead from Pittsburgh's Willie Stargell 115-112—when Matty Alou opened the ninth inning with a bunt single off reliever Danny Frisella. Actually it was a line drive to center field, sending Alou to third, from where he scored the winning run in a 2-1 victory when Ted Simmons laced an 0-2 pitch from Tug McGraw to left field.

MEDINA, Ohio (AP) — Bob Wynn talked like a golfer who had shot a pair of five-under-par 67's for the Ohio Open today.

"Bruce Devlin tells me I am going to be one of the all time greats. Chi Chi Rodriguez says the same thing," said the 31-year-old PGA tour regular who took a five-shot lead into the final two rounds today in the Ohio Open.

A quartet of pros, Bernie Allen of the Westfield Country Club, Cliff Cook of Perryburg, Phil Ferranti of Toledo and Steve Wilkerson of Westerville, were tied for second with five-under-par 139's after 36 holes Tuesday.

Another shot back at 140 were Phil Thomas of Zanesville and former pro tourist Frank Wharton of Akron. At 141 were 1970 Ohio Amateur king Mike McCullough of Coshocton, now a pro, and Jack Frost of McDermott.

Leading amateur was Don Albert of Columbus, former Big Ten titlest from Purdue. He was tied with Cleveland pro Bernie Haas at 142.

Sixty-six pros and 14 amateurs survived the 36-hole cut over the par 72, 6,505 yard Westfield Country Club course. It took a score of 149 or better for the pros and 147 for the amateurs.

Wynn said playing with the PGA tour regulars this year has helped his confidence. He's qualified in 23 of the last 24 events, collected $8,200 and will play in the Greater Hartford Open starting Friday.

"When these guys tell you you're good without your asking, it makes you feel more at home," said Wynn, bidding for his second straight Ohio Open title.

"Yeh, I kinda like my position here," Wynn said with a chuckle after firing five birdies and no bogies in a round that included only 30 putts.

Yaz, Boston Stop Baltimore, 4 - 3

By BERT ROSENTHAL

Associated Press Sports Writer Carl Yastrzemski with the boos of the crowd ringing in his ears and the threat of a trade hanging over his head, took a bat in his hands and shut the mouths of his critics ... at least temporarily.

The veteran Boston slugger, in the worst slump of his 11-year career, smashed a dramatic run scoring single with two out in the bottom of the ninth inning Tuesday night, giving the Red Sox a 4-3 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

"Under the circumstances, it was one of the most satisfying hits I've gotten in a long time," said the relieved Yastrzemski. "However, nothing is too satisfying when you're 13 1/2 games out (the margin by which the third-place Red Sox trail the frontrunning Orioles in the American League's East Division). But you keep trying."

This has been a very "trying" season—and week—for the 32-year-old left fielder, who has long been considered an untouchable on the Red Sox.

After starting out at a .300 pace, he injured a thumb May 31 while making a diving play in the outfield. Then, he admittedly developed bad batting habits and hasn't been able to break them.

It sent his batting average slipping to its current .260 average, resulting in the Red Sox dropping out of contention in the East race, brought on a chorus of boos from the fans at Boston's Fenway Park and prompted owner Tom Yawkey to say that every player on the club, including Yastrzemski, was available for trade.

While Boston was momentarily slowing Baltimore's drive toward the East title, Oakland was continuing its merry romp toward the West Division championship, beating California 4-1. Elsewhere in the AL, Detroit and Cleveland split a two-night doubleheader, the Tigers winning the opener 6-1 and the Indians taking the nightcap 6-3; Minnesota edged Chicago 4-3 in 10 innings; Washington defeated New York 6-5, and Kansas City downed Milwaukee 6-4.

Yastrzemski, considered one of the game's superstars after leading the Red Sox to the American League pennant in 1967, winning the batting title three times, and hitting 40 homers in each of the past two seasons, was booed every time he stepped to the plate against the Orioles Tuesday night. The booing, has been virtually automatic the past three months.

Yastrzemski's game winning hit came off Jim Palmer, 16-7, and scored Mike Fiore, who had walked as a pinch hitter and moved to third on Doug Griffin's double. It also enabled reliever Luis Tiant, 1-7, to gain his first victory since Aug. 8, 1970.

The A's, heading toward their first division title, broke a 1-1 tie against California in the eighth inning on Reggie Jackson's 400-foot run scoring double and Rick Monday's two-run triple. John "Ble Moon" Odum, 10-9 and reliever Darold Knowles combined to stop the Angels on five hits.

Joe Coleman tossed a four-hitter for his 15th victory and Norm Cash drove in four runs with his 27th homer and a single in Detroit's opening game victory over Cleveland. Dick McAuliffe cracked his 17th homer for the Tigers.

In the nightcap, rookie Chris Chambliss' three-run homer and Graig Nettles' two-run blast, his 23rd, were the big hits for the Indians. Sam McDowell, a 20-game winner for Cleveland last season, made a rare relief appearance and earned his first save of the season with two scoreless innings.

Minnesota broke a 3-3 tie against Chicago in the 10th inning on a walk to Danny Thompson, a sacrifice, Rod Carew's single, an intentional walk and Harmon Killebrew's sacrifice fly over the White Sox' five-man infield.

Rookie Steve Braun drove in two Minnesota runs with a triple and a sacrifice fly, and scored another. Mike Hershberger homered for Chicago.

Del Unser scammed home from second base on shortstop Frank Baner's error with two out in the ninth inning, giving Washington its victory over New York. Don Mincher capped a five-run Washington sixth with a pinch grand slam homer.

Home runs by Joe Keough and rookie pitcher Lance Clemons helped Kansas City beat Milwaukee. Keough's drive tied the score 4-4 in the seventh, and Paul Schaaf put the Royals ahead with a sacrifice fly later in the inning. Clemons hit his first major league homer in the eighth.

Ken Henderson's three-run homer and two-run singles by Dave Kingman and Chris Speier backed Gaylord Perry's seven-hit hurling as the Giants crushed the Braves and remained eight games in front of Los Angeles in the NL West.

Wes Parker socked a two-run homer as the Dodgers scored three times in the first inning and trounced the Astros behind rookie Doyle Alexander's nine-hit pitching. Alexander also scored the last two Dodgers runs on hits by Willie Davis and Bill Russell.

The Reds pushed across their winning run in the ninth inning on Tommy Helms' infield hit, a walk and Pete Rose's single to edge the Padres, who tied the score in the top of the inning on Leron Lee's double and Larry Stahl's pinch single.

Don Kessinger's fifth hit of the game, a bases-loaded single in the 10th inning, gave the Cubs their opening game triumph over the Expos. Brock Davis' RBI single in the seventh tied the score.

Chicago's Ken Holtzman was breezing along on a one-hitter in the nightcap when the Expos exploded for eight runs in the sixth inning before darkness forced the carryover.

The Expos loaded the bases and Ron Woods' double and Ron Hunt's triple produced four runs. Bob Bailey singled a run home. Boots Day delivered a two-run single and John Boccabella, who started it all with a single, singled Day across, double tied the score and Manny Sanguillen stroked a bases-loaded single for the final two runs.

The ex-catcher also made a fine play on Donn Clendenon's slow hopper to end the Mets' ninth with two runners aboard, grabbing it on the short hop and firing to first.

Jerry Reuss went the route for the Cards, striking out 10. New York's Nolan Ryan fanned 12 in six innings.

Deron Johnson and Oscar Gamble drove in two runs apiece as the Phillies piled up a 5-0 bulge over the Pirates. But Rennie Stennett smacked a two-run single in the fifth, Milt May drove in a run in the sixth and Pittsburgh rallied for four in the seventh to win it.

Gene Clines' two run pinch hit happened to hit the last one up the middle.

Actually it was a line drive to center field, sending Alou to third, from where he scored the winning run in a 2-1 victory when Ted Simmons laced an 8-2 pitch from Tug McGraw to left.

That kept the Cards five games behind Pittsburgh, which rallied from a five-run deficit to beat Philadelphia 7-5.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Chicago Cubs edged Montreal 7-6 in 10 innings in the first game of a doubleheader. The nightcap was suspended with the Expos leading 8-1 after six innings and will be completed today. San Francisco trounced Atlanta 9-0, Los Angeles whipped Houston 6-1 and Cincinnati nipped San Diego 2-1.

By BILL MCGAFFNEY

Herald Sports Editor

Forty-eight candidates, including 11 lettermen, are bidding for berths on the Circleville Tigers football squad which will be out to defend its South Central Ohio League crown.

Sixteen seniors, 13 juniors and 19 sophomores are hard at work getting ready for the Sept. 10 home opener against a strong Grove City aggregation.

"We will have depth and experience at some spots," Tiger coach Denny Williams offered, "but will be rather thin at others."

"You can't lose seven all-league players and not feel it," Williams continued. "However, we have some good prospects and feel we will round into shape by the time the season opens. It will take a lot of hard work but we feel our boys are up to it and will give a good account of themselves."

OFFENSIVELY, the Tigers appear to be a stronger running team than last year with a passing game that should at least equal the fine aerial game of the 1970 squad.

They will be operating out of a multiple T offense and should move the ball. Good experienced blocking up front will allow the hard running Tigers backs to find their way into the secondary of the opposition.

The Tigers will utilize an Oklahoma defense with variations to keep the rival offense in check. Tom Frericks, Mark Davy and Gary Mogan will give the defensive front wall experience and strength.

Captain Don Valentine and Mike Hamrick will operate from the linebackers posts, and both are proven rugged competitors.

The Red and Black defensive secondary, one of the keys to the 1970 undefeated season, was hard hit with the graduation of Tom Bowers and Doyle Kiser and Valentine shifting to a linebacker spot.

Battling for the vacated positions are Jeff Harr, Dave Webb, Tom Shea, Rich Speakman, Mike Chelkowski, Dave Mehalick, Marc Warner, Mike Speakman and Ed Richter.

DEPTH will be the key to the running game with Shea, Speakman, Chelkowski, Warner, Richter, Wade Camp and Dave Pontious providing the momentum.

Dave Truex, Webb, Harr and Mehalick are all capable of putting the ball in the air and provide insurance for the Tigers' aerial game.

Circleville's pass receiving corps is headed by Webb, Iain Griffey, Randy Young and Ron Leasure. All have good hands, fine moves and know what to do with the ball once it's in their hands.

Valentine, Hamrick and Kenny Gregory will enhance the Red and Black passing game from the tight end position.

The punting game is shaping up with Truex, Greg Williams and Malcomb Wilkins putting a lot of foot into the pignik.

Circleville's offensive line will average around 180 pounds with the backs weighing in at 165 pounds. The front five on defense will hit the scales at an average of 195 pounds.

"FROM the information we can gather the league appears to be stronger and everyone has to be considered a contender," coach Williams stated. "But we are the league champions and they'll have to beat us."

Coach Williams is ably assisted by an experienced coaching staff. The staff is comprised of Circleville's answer to Alonzo Stagg, Jim Lint who is heading into his 13th year with the Tigers, Brent Bell, Dannie Fouts and freshman and junior high coaches John Glanton, Terry Cordle and Gary Holby.

What do you do for an encore after an undefeated season? "You forget about last year," Williams stated, "and start all over again. The previous year is past and we start a new season Sept. 10."

At this stage of the game the Tiger offensive unit is shaping up with Valentine at the tight end and Webb, Griffey, Young and Ronnie Leasure all in the running for the split end position.

Mark Davey and Tom Frericks are solid at the tackle spots with Gary Mogan and Pete Bowers at the guards.

CRAIG Allison will anchor the middle of the line from the center position.

Harr, Truex, Webb and Mehalick are locked in a four-way battle for the quarterback slot.

Mike Chelkowski will operate from right half, Rich Speakman provides power at fullback and Tom Shea has been eating up the ground from the left half spot.

Defensively the Tigers have been working Frericks and Mogan at the ends, Greg Williams and Doug Spangler at the tackles with their outstanding middle guard, Mark Davey, anchoring the line.

Valentine and Hamrick are a pair of solid linebackers.

The halfback positions are up for grabs with Truex, Harr, Chelkowski, Webb, Shea, Rich Speakman, Mike Speakman, Mehalick and Richter all in the picture.

ADDITIONAL help will come from seniors Terry Leasure and Kenny Temple.

Junior strength will be provided by Paul England, Don Seyfag, Dennis Houston, Stuart Moore and Larry McFarland.

Sophomores making a bid are Joe Smith, Allen Weldon, Rick Hartinger, Rock Davis, Jeff See, Tim Strawser, Hoss Payne, Reggie Radcliff, Scott Linn, Keith Davis, John Ankrom, Mike Brown, Dale Imbler and William Houston.

Local fans will get a chance to look at the Tigers when they host London 5 p.m. today at the high school.

The only change in the Circleville schedule is Athens who will replace Logan.

The Red and Black's opening game should be a real test as they will host the strong Greyhounds of Grove City.

THE rest of the Circleville schedule follows:

Sept. 17 at Teays Valley
Sept. 24 Hamilton Township
Oct. 1 at Wilmington
Oct. 8 at Hillsboro
Oct. 15 Greenfield
Oct. 22 at Miami Trace
Oct. 29 Washington C. H.
Nov. 5 at Franklin Heights
Nov. 12 Athens

DETROIT (AP) — Chris Chambliss made a shambles of Joe Niekro and the Detroit Tigers in the second game of a two-night doubleheader Tuesday.

And Cleveland Manager Johnny Ligon believes the Indians' first baseman should make a shambles of the voting for Rookie of the Year honors in the American League this season.

Chambliss, the Tribe's top draft choice in 1970 after playing college ball at UCLA, tagged Niekro for a three-run homer in the fourth inning to power the Indians to a 6-3 triumph over Detroit after the Tigers had taken the first one 6-1.

In the opener Norm Cash drove in four runs with a two-run homer and single, while Joe Coleman pitched a four-hitter as he upped his record to 15-8.

But the cheers of the Shrine Night crowd of 27,209 at Tiger Stadium turned to jeers when Detroit stranded 14 runners in the second game and Cleveland had back-to-back three-run innings, climaxed by Chambliss' seventh homer of the year.

Actually it was a line drive to center field, sending Alou to third, from where he scored the winning run in a 2-1 victory when Ted Simmons laced an 8-2 pitch from Tug McGraw to left.

That kept the Cards five games behind Pittsburgh, which rallied from a five-run deficit to beat Philadelphia 7-5.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Chicago Cubs edged Montreal 7-6 in 10 innings in the first game of a doubleheader. The nightcap was suspended with the Expos leading 8-1 after six innings and will be completed today. Longhorns Lead SW Grid Fight

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
DALLAS (AP) — The head

savage of the Southwest is still the Texas Longhorns, who again have the strength to make it to the national championship.

Texas saw its 30-game victory string broken in the Cotton Bowl 12-11 by Notre Dame New Year's Day and a raft of class seniors like All-America full-back Steve Worster, split end Cotton Speyrer, All-America defensive end Bill Atessis, and All-America offensive tackle Bobby Wuench, said adios.

Longhorn Coach Darrell Royal says "We're replacing quality seniors with quality sophomores but that isn't a fair swap. We could be starting as many as nine sophomores."

"I can't see us being as good a football team because of the inexperience."

But Royal has so many pluses it will be hard to keep the Longhorns down.

"Our backfield will be the quickest we've had at Texas," Royal says. "Offensively, our line will be physically stronger and larger. The things that give me comfort about next fall are that we have some talent and we have some enthusiasm."

The talent and enthusiasm starts with quarterback Eddie Phillips, a master operator of the Wishbone-T. Royal calls Phillips "the best quarterback I've had at Texas."

Phillips showed in the Cotton Bowl game that he could also pass which should keep some foes from loading up on the Longhorn ground game this autumn.

Joining Phillips in the backfield is Royal's prime All-America candidate, halfback Jim Bertelsen.

Bertelsen averaged six yards per carry and romped for 13 touchdowns in 1970.

Other potential All-Americans on the Longhorns include junior offensive tackle Jerry Sisemore and defensive tackle Ray Dowdy.

Texas carries a 20-game conference skein into the Southwest Conference donnybrook this season.

Arkansas and fast-rising Texas Tech pose the biggest menace to the Longhorn domination.

The Razorbacks could be one of the most explosive offensive teams in the country. Junior quarterback Joe Ferguson has of the most explosive offensive teams in the country. Junior quarterback Joe Ferguson has a tremendous arm and tailback Jon Richardson is a touchdown threat each time he carries the football. Also, not to be overlooked is field goal kicker Bill McCard, who boomed an NCAA record 60-yarder against Southern Methodist last year.

But Arkansas, at least on paper, has a potential defensive Achilles heel.

Cochran Frank Broyles says "This is a rebuilding year for us. We lost nine seniors who had started every game the past three years. Inexperience will certainly be a problem for us, we're young both ways."

Broyles has only four players returning on defense.

At Texas Tech, second-year Coach Jim Carlen is riding the momentum of 8-3 season.

"We should be improved from an offensive standpoint," Carlen says. "However, our defensive line is way below last year."

Tech is blessed with excellent, grinding running backs in Doug McCutchen and Miles Langehennig. Newcomer Joe Barnes provides a breakaway threat.

Quarterback Charles Napper is a consistent performer who has a clutch receiver in Johnny Odom.

The other SWC outfits are capable of giving a good fight on a given Saturday, but don't have the muscle for the long haul.

Texas A&M is a talented team which had a mysterious nosedive last year after defeating LSU in an early game. The Aggies have plenty of experience off a 2-9 team. Quarterback Lex James is expected to return after missing spring practice because of hepatitis.

Rice and Texas Christian will field teams under new coaches—Bill Peterson at Rice and Jim Pittman at TCU.

Pittman says "We have good depth at quarterback and both receiver positions, but we're hurting in the offensive line. Defensively, there are some questions, but I'll guarantee you one thing — we'll hurt people."

Peterson is having trouble finding a quarterback to run his pro-style offense which he used at Florida State.

Southern Methodist could field a pesky team behind senior quarterback Gary Hammond, a gifted athlete who has made All-Conference at wide receiver and tailback but has never played a varsity down as the man under. SMU will run from a "Flying W the-T" with a fullhouse backfield and the two ends split wide.

Baylor could be a surprise under Coach Bill Beall.

"We could jell into a good football team if we don't have some unexpected injuries at key positions," says Beall.

Houston which joined the SWC in the spring, won't play for keeps until 1975. The Cougars must improve rapidly to make a dent in the national ranking picture.

The University of Texas at El Paso has the potential for one of its most explosive teams in years. The Miners bear watching in the polls.

But from the Southwest on paper, as usual, it's Texas with all the goods.

STARTING OVER AT MARSHALL—Their football team wiped out in that plane crash last year, Marshall University will have to field an inexperienced group this fall with little depth. Here are the backs, freshmen and sophomores, working out at Huntington, W. Va., school.

Annual Ringer Roundup Play Scheduled

Play in the annual Pickaway County Ringer Roundup begins Sunday with the pitchoff in the ladies division, scheduled at 5 p.m.

There were 84 qualifiers for this year's horseshoe tournament and the best qualifying round was turned in by Kenny Daws of Good Hope. Daws had a score of 262 points and threw 81 per cent ringers.

Defending champion is Jim Knisley of Bremen, who held the United States championship in 1968.

Jennie Reno, defending champion of the ladies division is entered in the tournament. She recently won the world's junior Women's Championship held at Middlesex, N. J.

Tournament manager Bob Wilkinson and Pickaway County Horseshoe club president Ray Goodman have arranged to award four trophies in each class, a trophy to the highest qualifier and trophies for the youngest and oldest pitchers entered.

Pitchoffs will be held all next week with C class finals slated to begin 6 p.m. Sept. 10, B class 6 p.m. Sept. 11, and A class 3:30 p.m. Sept. 12.

Flamboyant Stram Sees Chiefs In Super Bowl

By ROBERT MOORE
Associated Press Sports Writer
KANSAS CITY (AP) —

Flamboyant Hank Stram, the veteran coach of the Kansas City Chiefs, sees red every time he thinks about the 1970 season. How well he knows the Chiefs lost their world championship in pro football.

"After we won the Super Bowl," Stram says, "we got away from our personality. That won't be a problem this year."

Then he makes this promise: "We'll move the ball the coming season."

The Stram guarantee accompanies that statement.

Stram approaches the National Football League's regular season knowing that the Chiefs went through one of the most strenuous training periods in their history.

"We had more contact work than we ever had in recent years," Stram points out.

Stram's main purpose in increasing the contact tempo was to solve two major problems—to find replacements for two retired stars, defensive end Jerry Mays and tight end Fred Arbanas.

Marvin Upshaw, acquired from Cleveland last year and out most of the season with a fractured cheek, or Bob Stein, appear the best bets to inherit Mays' position. Morris Stroud, beginning his third year as a pro, is almost certain to fill Arbanas' role.

Stram, in addition to solving the replacement problems, faced another major one, bolstering the Chief's aerial attack which was often ineffective in 1970 and gained only an average of 145 yards a game. Kansas City's passing attack produced only 13 touchdowns last year, only half the total of 26 made by the Chiefs.

Quarterback Len Dawson, at 36 the oldest of the Chiefs, is starting the last year of a four-year contract. He will be at the throttle again.

Stram and Dawson agree that the Chiefs have an excellent chance of regaining their world title.

"Barring injuries," says Stram, "we have as much of a chance to win it all as anybody in pro football. We went to training camp with the primary objective of establishing a winning habit."

"We have had more live hitting this year in practice," notes Dawson, who started getting his arm in shape in February. "As a result, we've developed better timing between the quarterbacks and the receivers. I'm very optimistic about the season."

The Chiefs have two veteran receivers in Frank Pitts and Otis Taylor. Swift Jimmy Hines, obtained as a free agent late last season, also is expected to beef up the receiving corps along with Lewis Porter, rookie Elmo Wright and Dennis Homan, obtained from Dallas.

Ed Podolak, fourth in the NFL's American Conference in 1970 with a 4.5-yard average, returns as the No. 1 running back. The other running back is a tossup between Robert Holmes and Wendell Hayes.

Kansas City's offensive line is dotted with veterans, including Jim Tyrer and Dave Hill at the tackles and Ed Budde and Mo Moorman at the guards. Jack Rudnay, who took over at center midway through last season, will man the pivot post. Defense, punting and place-kicking are phases of the game which do not worry Stram. The defense is rugged and loaded with tested stars. It picked up the slack when the Chiefs' offense sputtered a year ago and was the big reason the Chiefs were able to do as well as they did, 7-5-2 and second in the AFC Western Division.

Safety Johnny Robinson is the ringleader. He intercepted 10 passes for 155 yards last year. The other safety is Jim Marsalis and Emmitt Thomas are the cornerbacks. Bobby Bell, Willie Lanier and Jim Lynch, boasting a total of 16 years in the pros, are the linebackers.

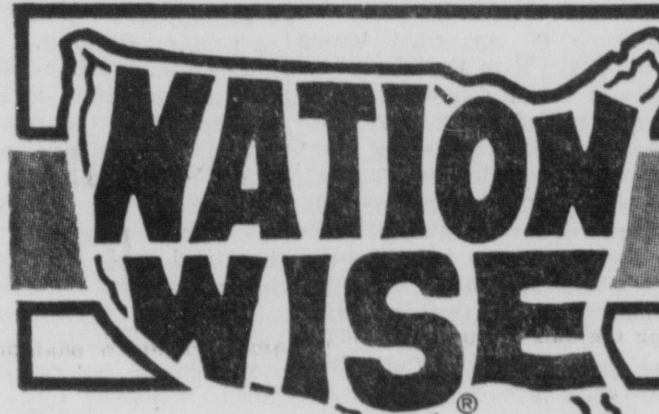

Curley Culp and Buck Buchanan are the defensive tacklers, and Aaron Brown is back at right end.

Jerrel Wilson, third in AFC punting with a 1970 average of 44.9 yards, gives the Chiefs top-flight kicking. Jan Stenerud, now in his fifth year, led the AFC in scoring with 116 points with a perfect 26-for-26 in extra points and 30 field goals.

Philanthropic Dies

CINCINNATI (AP)—A prominent Cincinnati businessman who founded Otto C. Epp Memorial Hospital in suburban Kenwood has died at the age of 83. Otto C. Epp, who died at his home Tuesday, donated $500,000 toward construction of the hospital which opened in 1969 as the only osteopathic hospital in the Greater Cincinnati area. The hospital now has 77 beds. Originally, it had 56.

Tennessee Volunteers Eye Crown; Talent Plentiful

By ESCAR THOMPSON
KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Tennessee, 10-1 last season and ranked No. 4 nationally, is a football team that packs the potential for gaining national prominence in 1971.

Bill Battle, starting his second season as Tennessee head coach, concedes his squad, including 41 lettermen, is loaded with talent.

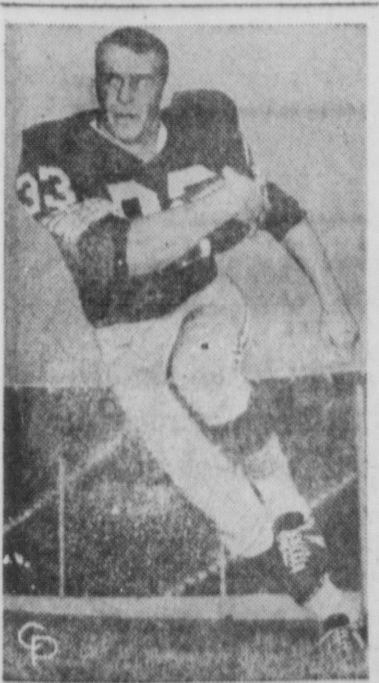

The Volunteers are solid on defense, have excellent running backs, some fine receivers and several exciting newcomers.

There are some problems, such as quarterback and the interior offensive line. Even so, the Vols should be a strong contender for the Southeastern Conference title.

"It takes three elements—defense, a strong running game and a complementary passing attack—to win a championship," Battle says. "Whether we get all these things will depend largely on the leadership of our seniors."

Tennessee has some standout seniors and Battle says he expects them to provide the same type leadership he got from last year's senior corps.

Take Jackie Walker, team captain and linebacker. Or safety Bobby Majors, who led

Ohio Lawsuit On Property Taxes Seen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State School Supt. Martin Essex expects a court suit to be filed in Ohio before long challenging the constitutionality of financing education primarily through property taxation.

He said a California Supreme Court ruling that the system is unconstitutional "could start a series of decisions around the country."

"I would anticipate a suit in Ohio before too many months have come and gone," Essex told newsmen Tuesday.

The California court found that the system is unconstitutional because it provides more money for educating children in wealthy districts than those in poor ones.

Essex said his office had been "besieged" with inquiries about the impact of the California decision on Ohio schools.

"We have the same wide variance in taxable resources in Ohio as in California," he said. About two-thirds of the money to finance public education in this state comes from property tax revenue.

Essex added that the California decision is not likely to affect the Ohio school financing picture for some time because the case probably will go to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Essex said adoption of a personal income tax by the Ohio General Assembly would be a "step in the right direction" toward equalizing school financing and would make the state "less vulnerable" to a lawsuit.

Another way to equalize funding, he said, would be a uniform statewide property tax with the money distributed at the state level.

Mets And Yankees Eye Jersey Move

NEW YORK (AP) — M. Donald Grant, chairman of the board of the New York Mets, said Tuesday he would recommend moving the baseball team to New Jersey if New York City succeeds in forcing the Mets to accept the New York Yankees as co-tenants at Shea Stadium.

Sanford Garelik, president of the City Council, has proposed that the Yankees share Shea Stadium. There has been speculation that the American League club might leave New York if the city fails to purchase and refurbish Yankee Stadium.

Attorney Faces Charges Of Murder In Prison Break

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — Authorities have issued an all-points bulletin for Stephen M. Bingham and charged the 29-year-old lawyer with five counts of murder in connection with a San Quentin prison escape attempt Aug. 21.

Marin County Dist. Atty. Bruce Bales accused Bingham of smuggling a gun to George Jackson, a black militant convict killed in the attempt, which also took five other lives.

"I have reached the conclusion that there is no way Jackson could have obtained the death gun, except during his visit with Bingham just before the killings commenced," Bales said Tuesday.

Bales said the pistol was found with five clips of live ammunition on Jackson's body after Jackson was shot down by prison tower guards.

Bales told a news conference after filing the murder complaint that Jackson underwent a thorough "skin search" before meeting Bingham.

Prison officials say Jackson, one of the three "Soledad Brothers" awaiting trial for the murder of a white guard at Soledad prison, pulled a pistol from a wig and took a guard hostage after returning from the visit with Bingham.

The complaint stated that within half an hour after Jackson pulled the gun, three guards were dead in Jackson's cell. Two were killed by gunshot wounds in the back of the head, and one by throat slash.

The bodies of two inmates were found in the cell area, killed by deep cuts to the throat.

Bales said the charges against Bingham are based on the same California complicity law under which black militant Angela Davis is accused of murder, kidnapping and conspiracy in an Aug. 7, 1970, shootout that took four lives at the Marin County courthouse. One of those killed was Jackson's 17-year-old brother, Jonathan.

Miss Davis is accused of supplying the guns and helping plot an escape attempt by three convicts from a trial session but she was not accused of being present at the shootout.

Bales said additional evidence discovered over the weekend appeared to "rule out the unknown or innocent transportation of the gun into the prison by Bingham." He didn't elaborate.

State Fair Crowd Hears Tom Jones

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Swoons and screams rose from the grandstand as Tom Jones crooned and contorted before capacity crowds — mostly female — at the Ohio State Fair Tuesday.

The British star, receiving $100,000 for four shows, was one of the biggest fair attractions so far in his first two appearances.

But fair attendance remained slightly behind the 1970 pace with the 154,263 figure for Tuesday about equaling the crowd for the sixth day last year. Attendance at this year's halfway year's $2,219,170.

Officials said daily crowds will have to pick up a bit if total attendance is to top last year's 2,219,170.

Today was Blue Ribbon Farm Families Day, Avco Broadcasting Day, Portsmouth Day and Safety Day at ExpoOhio '71.

On Tuesday, Pamela Rinehart, 18, of Route 5 Wapakoneta, won her third grand championship in the Junior Division Brown Swiss dairy cattle show. The reserve grand champion was shown by John Wears of Pataskala.

It was a family affair in the Junior Division Ayrshire dairy cattle show as Ronald, Rick and JoAnn Fenton of Winchester in Adams County exhibited the grand champion female, reserve grand champion, senior champion and seven other award winners.

James Jagger of Mount Gil-ead showed the champion ewe and ram of the Corriedale breed junior division.

In the junior dairy goat show, Joseph Haws of Portage had the grand champion Alpine, William Swope of Cynnet the grand champion Nubian, and Angela Blessing of Pleasantville the grand champion Saanen and grand champion Toggenburg.

In harness racing, Jay Time smashed the fair juvenile pacing record with a final heat victory in 2:00.2 to win the $36,650 Buckeye State Pace. Jay Time outdistanced stablemate Kit Hanover by seven lengths.

Bret Hanover's Bretta won straight heats of 2:05.4 and 2:04.2 to capture the $9,000 2-year-old filly pace.

Bicycle Rider Hurt When Hit By Truck

Thomas G. Roesch, a 16-year-old bicycle rider from Columbus, was injured 7 p.m. Tuesday when he apparently swerved into the path of a pickup truck driven by Alva C. Weaver, 54, Laurelville.

Roesch sustained contusions and abrasions to the right hand, elbow and shoulder and to his back. He refused to be taken to Berger Hospital, telling Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Lowell Ferguson he preferred to be treated by his family physician.

Festival Of Folk Heritage To Be Held

A first in Ohio, the United Methodist Church is sponsoring an Appalachian Folk Festival Sept. 10-12 at Camp Francis Asbury in Rio Grande.

Music from dusk till dawn will ring through the hills of Southeastern Ohio including some by entertainers Zegar and Evans, Sam Cox, Suni McGrath, The Semblance and the Spurlow Group.

The purpose of the Festival, according to Pastor David Carey of Oak Hill dean of the festival, is "to bring young people together in a wholesome situation that is relevant to their experiences of today."

Carey believes the performers should attract hundreds of young people from all over Ohio and neighboring states. Zegar and Evans are well known for their best selling record "The Year 2525." Sam Cox, whose unique banjo style is reminiscent of the early Appalachian musicians, recently had a concert in Washington sponsored by the Smithsonian Institution. Suni McGrath's recording of "Cornflower Suite" received Billboard's Four Star rating.

The Semblance is a group of five college students who have traveled thousands of miles with their message of love. A 22-member group, The Spurlows have appeared nationally on television and have performed by invitation for President Nixon.

The festival, which will also include a show of Appalachian arts and crafts, will be climaxed by a folk worship service at dawn on Sunday, Sept. 12.

Tickets for the Appalachian Folk Festival are available in advance from Folk Tickets, Oak Hill, Ohio 45656. Tickets purchased at the gate will cost slightly more. Admission will include all entertainment and camping space for the two nights. Good concessions will be available all during the festival.

Racial Trouble Brewing In Air Force, Panel Finds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Black airmen may turn to violence unless base commanders "stop gambling with festering frustrations" and enforce stronger civil rights measures, an Air Force study says.

Following a six-month study at 15 bases in the Air Training Command, a 15-man human relations team said it found "discrimination and racism in the command and it is ugly."

"The word we get is that the blacks will 'wait and see' what happens as a result of our visits, but they won't wait long," the team said in a report released Tuesday.

The team interviewed scores of white, black and Mexican-American officers and enlisted men and submitted its report to Air Training Command officials July 26. The report was not made public, however, until a copy was leaked to the New York Times.

The report said "unequal treatment is manifested in unequal punishment, offensive and inflammatory language, prejudice in the assignment of details, lack of products for blacks in the PX (base exchange), harassment by security policemen under orders to break up five or more blacks in a group, double standards in enforcement of regulations."

"The cause of this is blatant supervisory prejudice in many cases, but for the most part it was the supervisory indifference to human needs."

Discrimination was found both on base and off, the report said, and suggested that bases be closed or relocated "if fair and equal treatment cannot be obtained for all military personnel and their families."

The findings echoed a report on racial discrimination within the Military Airlift Command made several months ago following a riot at Travis Air Force Base Calif.

bottom is not to drag the top down.

"Beverly Hills has long been known as a lighthouse district pioneering in new courses, new teaching techniques and new social approaches to education that have been used by school districts throughout the state," the mayor of the wealthy community said.

"If the current decision is allowed to stand, it will end those statewide benefits," she said, and predicted the U.S. Supreme Court would reverse the ruling on appeal.

Rep. Roman Pucinski, D-Ill., chairman of the House general subcommittee on education, took the opposite view. "It is reasonable to assume the California decision will be sustained by the U.S. Supreme Court," he said.

Pucinski said the ruling would add impetus to the federal aid to education bill which would underwrite one-third of the cost of educating every child in America by 1975.

"This will relieve local real estate taxes from the education burden with both the state and federal governments assuming the cost," he said.

Ohio Supt. of Public Instruction Martin W. Essex said his office had been "besieged" with a call about the California ruling and added: "I would anticipate a suit in Ohio before too many months have gone."

"We have the same wide variance in taxable resources in Ohio as in California," he said. South Dakota Supt. of Public Instruction Donald Barnhart said, "This moves us closer to the day when the state will take a larger share of the responsibility to collect and distribute taxes for education of our children."

"The property tax is an antiquated method of attempting to provide equal financing," he said.

State Park Closings Under Way

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The closing of 46 state parks Monday will save the state about $450,000 in September, but will force at least one million Ohioans to delay or cancel plans to visit them.

The shutdowns are part of an austerity program being instituted by Gov. John Gilligan until the Legislature takes final action on a state budget.

Savings from the park closings will come mostly from the layoff of 450 permanent and 750 parttime employees, according to David Meeker, assistant director of the Natural Resources Department.

Meeker said about two million visitors to state parks were projected for the last three weeks in September. Two-thirds of this number, he said, would have sought entrance to parks being shut down, while the rest plan to go to the 11 parks remaining partially open.

The 46 parks will remain closed at least a month since Meeker figures it will take about two weeks to get the parks' winter programs rolling again after the Legislature acts on a state budget.

The parks will be closed Monday night with barricades at entrances and skeleton staffs assigned to protect property.

Meeker said anyone entering the parks will be guilty of trespassing and will be subject to fines of $10 to $100.

Parks staying partially open with revenue-producing lodges, cabins and golf courses still in operation are Burr Oak, Cowan Lake, Dillon, Hueston Woods, Lake Hope, Mohican, Pike Lake, Portsmouth, Punderson, Pymatuning and South Bass Island.
